Big holes left in ACHS '88-'89 coaching roster

by GLORIA DAVIS

Reports are that the interviewing has already started at Antioch Community High School in efforts to fill the many vacant coaching positions suddenly open on the high school staff.

Varsity basketball coach Don Zeman, former assistant to long-time cage coach Roger Andrews, taking over at his retirement, has resigned, saying that he felt too much pressure to win from the parents and other Antioch High sports fans.

Since Andrews retirement six years ago, Zeman's teams have a losing 69-92 record following in the wake of Andrew's Elite Eight team.

According to Supt. Gary Allen, the high school board has asked Norm Hahn, sophomore cage coach, to resign that position. Hahn has asked for, and been granted, a hearing before the school board, slated to take place on Wednesday, May 11.

Hahn is also the head boys track coach and teaches social studies.

Mike Gordy, head girls softball coach also wants out of that job. Gordy claims he wants to spend more time with his family than a coaching job allows. He is an English teacher, on the football coaching staff and also heads the school newspaper.

Other letters of resignation from coaching jobs have been received by Allen from Rich Brown, girls bowling coach; Glinda Szydlowski; girls track and field and Debbie Rommel girls' gymnastics. Rommel is resigning because of impending motherhood.

Allen said that the board has taken no official action on any of the resignations but Athletic Dir. Harold Abramson is already looking for possible replacements from present staff members.

Allen added that the board could take action and accept any and-or all letters at the next regular board meeting.

"We have the option of just reappointing the same teacher to the same coaching job but I doubt that we would do that since it's better to have someone interested in the job," Allen said.

Hot tackle traps two men, in jail on theft charges

Early one morning last week, Antioch Police stopped a car at Main and Ida Sts. The driver, Allen Mc Clamont, 24, Sioux City, Ia. could not produce a valid drivers license when asked.

A police check showed that a passenger Brandon Booth, 21, of Buffalo Grove was wanted there on bond forfieture.

The police had spotted some wrapped fishing tackle laying on the back seat of the car.

After the police checked, they found that there had been fishing tackle worth $1.000 stolen from the Fox River Recreation Campground on Rte. 173.

The Lake County Sheriff's Dept. joined the Antioch Police Dept. in working on the case.

During questioning McCalmont kept changing his name and date of birth.

The two men were charged with smashing a window in the storage area at the campground and removing the tackle just about an hour before they were stopped by the police.

The men were orginally detained one on the driving charge and the other on the want and they were then taken to Lake County jail where they were being held on $35,000 bond pending a hearing on theft charges.

Antioch explodes commercially

Commercial and residential development in the Village of Antioch is going ahead at full speed according to Antioch's Economic Dev. Dir. Don Davis.

The first phase of the Comfort Inn on Rte. 173 is set to start welcoming guests at the end of this month or at the latest, sometime at the beginning of June.

Burger King's groundbreaking, also on Rte. 173 on the site of the old Liddle vegetable stand, is also imminent now that the developers have gotten the rezoning they requested from the village board. Davis said that Burger King has slated sometime in July for its targeted opening date.

The Antioch Shopping Plaza, off of Orchard St., has been purchased and the new owner is intending on extensive remodeling of the buildings which may include new fascades.

In the same area, Poe and Poe Realty has expanded its operation to the west, annexing the old Rollins Bakery building and remodeling the entire facility.

Home Trust Real Estate, which is located in the Lake St. Plaza, has taken over the leasing of the remaining 10 openings in the plaza.

Davis said that new things are also happening with plans for the downtown redevelopment.

Residentially, Al Little, whose Pine Hill Lakes subdivision in Little Silver Lake is going full blast, is due to appear in front of the village board concerning another 400-acre subdivision in the area of Garys' Dr., east of Longview.

Lots are being sold in Antioch Manor off of North Ave., east of Rte. 83 and another subdivision with one acre lots is in the works in the township near Rte. 83 and Grass Lake Rd.

Antioch Fire Chief urges some spring safety rules

As spring is rearing its head, the thoughts of cleaning out the basement and the attic come across everyone's minds.

Chief William Carney of the Antioch Fire Dept. wants to remind the residents of the Village of Antioch, and those living in the fire district, that care should be given to the proper disposal of the items to be thrown away.

It is easy to put the items cleaned from the house out for the regular trash pickup. It is also easy to put it in a pile and burn it. Open burning, however, is not allowed in the village of Antioch or the First Fire Protection Dist. without a special EPA permit.

Open burning is not allowed, as it leads to air pollution and, when left unattended experience shows it to be the cause of grass, field or slough fires. Caution should be taken to ensure that a resident does not accidentally start a fire that they cannot control.

Safe springtime cleanup habits should include:

— Checking outdoor cookers for safe operation

— Proper storage of fuels used for outdoor cooking and for lawn care

— Assuring that the air conditioning units are operating properly

— That all fans are proprly cleaned and in good repair

— Extension cords used outdoors have been checked and are approved

— The garage is free of flammable and combustible liquids

— Each family member is aware of the placement of fire extinguishers and how to use them

Chief Carney wants to remind everyone that springtime can be a fun time if good fire safety habits are followed.

A 9 percent, 2-year hike goes to Richmond teachers

The Richmond Classroom Teachers' Assn. contract for the next two school years was agreed to at the last regular meeting of the Richmond Grade School Board of Education.

According to the new teachers' contract, the 25 teachers employed by the grade school district will receive a 4 percent salary increase and benefits next year and a 5 percent salary increase plus benefits for 1989-90 school year.

This will mean that a starting teacher's salary will be $15,800 their first year and $16,590 their second year.

The average teacher's salary at Richmond Grade School is at $22,661, that salary will be increased to $23,568 next year and $24,746 for the 1989-90 school year.

In a drive to get Illinois legislators to work on increased funding for education, the co-chairmen of the Richmond Grade School's Communication Council Legislative Campaign Lorraine Zarnstorff and Sherri Hoening received the support of the board of education for a letter writing campaign, to legislators urging them to eliminate or find funding for educational mandates, re-prioritize current levels of state funding giving education a higher priority and support a tax increase.

Peterson attends workshop

Sharon Peterson, a biology and chemistry instructor at Antioch Community High School recently attended a three day laboratory safety training workshop at Curry College, in Milton, Mass.

The workshop was spnsored by Union Carbide and the American Chemical Society, and was directed by Dr. James A. Kaufman, laboratory safety chairman for the American Chemical Society.

Approximately 50 instructors and department heads, representing many areas throughout the United States and Canada, gathered to receive instruction on the initiation and improvement of health and safety programs in their respective school districts.

Peterson comments, "this workshop was one of the finest workshops I have attended in my years of teaching. It was extremely worthwhile and I expect to attempt to put some of my knowledge into effect immediately. It is nice to be able to see how the laboratory programs and practices at Antioch Community High School compare with other schools across the United States. It would be wonderful if one teacher per department could attend this workshop each year."

Anyone who would be interested in gaining information concerning the initiation or improvement of a laboratory health and safety program in the school district, can contact Peterson at Antioch Community High School (312)395-1421.

Ex-political aid to give talk

At 8 p.m., Tuesday, May 24, there will be a free lecture entitled "Law Establishes the Brotherhood of Nations", given by Barbara Holliday, a Christian Science lecturer from Washington, D.C.

This lecture will be held at Antioch Community High School, 1133 S. Main St., Antioch, and is sponsored by the members of the local Christian Science Church. The public is cordially invited to attend, and care will be provided for small children during the lecture.

Holliday is well qualified to speak on the subject of law. She worked for 12 years in the congressional field on the stafs of three U.S. representatives and one U.S. senator in the capacities of press aide, legislative assistant, speech writer and researcher.

However, her own healing—through prayer in Christian Science—after a long history of health problems,caused her to search out a higher law—God's law.

In her lecture, which is based on the Bible, and especially the teaching of Christ Jesus, Holliday will discuss God's law and how this law establishes the brotherhood of man.

In the spirit of their long tradition of looking to God for help, the members of the local Christian Science Church, located at Rte. 173 and Harden St. in Antioch, wish to consider with others in the community what can be done to bring healing and brotherhood to mankind. They welcome all to share this lecture with them.

Avoiding school building

Rigid boundary lines reflecting neighborhood structure and traditional classroom configurations are taking a second place these days in the operation of the modern primary educational system to the need for equal classroom size and efficient utilization of resources.

When parents hold to old ways, like maintenance of the neighborhood school concept and adherence to the standard K-8 classroom organization, they frequently find themselves at odds with educators and their local school administration.

That was the case in Antioch recently when the school elected to reconfigure class groupings to even out disparate classroom construction. Population shifts had resulted in class sizes ranging from 17 to 32.

Dr. Donald Skidmore, superintendent of the district, took considerable abuse during public hearings on reconfigurations. The final decision was made on the basis of the organization best serving the needs of the district and providing for future growth.

Skidmore stressed that construction should be avoided whenever possible considering today's building costs of $65,000 to $70,000 each when adding additional classrooms or $200,000 per room for new construction. Curriculum benefits and financial considerations more than offset whatever benefits can be derived from a "walk to school" approach.

With just about every youngster riding a bus to school, Antioch feels it will achieve maximum space utilization, a fulfilling curriculum and equalization of classroom size that is so important these days in negotiating teacher contracts.

Keep public business public

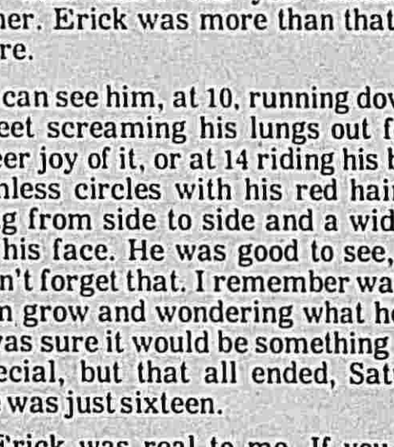

Forces both within and outside government constantly are at work to make it more difficult for citizens to keep tabs on the political process. Openness in governmental operations and public access to public business results only when people fight to keep government open and accessible.

Two bills before the House in the Illinois General Assembly are detrimental to openness and access. House Bill 1911 would provide for optional publication of quadrennial property assessments, replacing publication of assessment for tax purposes of every parcel of real estate in a township with merely a notice that the assessment "is on file" for public study. Publication allows citizens a convenient way to compare property values. It is popular with voters, practical and cost efficient. Merely making the official assessment every four years as required by statutes "available" is a disservice to the citizens of Illinois.

House Bill 3715 would eliminate the publication requirement for the statement of affairs for school districts. Again, the bill would require that a copy of the statement "be available" for public inspection in lieu of publication. The public has a right to know how tax dollars are being spent. It is a falacy that citizens don't read public notices or find information like the school report beneficial.

Public business should be public period. Both bills should be sent to an early grave.

OFF THE WALL

Forgotten compliment now a lasting memory

by A NEIGHBOR

Today, the Sox won and the Cubs lost, but Erick didn't care.

The Erick who used to shoot baskets in our driveway won't pretend to be Larry Bird any more. The one who rode the school bus with my daughter since first grade, and who accidentally cut her hand while helping her dig a vegetable patch when they both were five--that Erick.

My daughter won't go fishing with Erick any more, down at the lake, and she'll miss that. He was a great kid, raised with much love by fine parents, but that won't tell you about him, either. Erick was more than that, a lot more.

I can see him, at 10, running down the street screaming his lungs out for the sheer joy of it, or at 14 riding his bike in aimless circles with his red hair flopping from side to side and a wide grin on his face. He was good to see, and I won't forget that. I remember watching him grow and wondering what he'd do. I was sure it would be something pretty special, but that all ended, Saturday. He was just sixteen.

Erick was real to me. If you didn't know him, I can't make him real to you. Ten thousand words won't bring Erick back. You should have met him, just once!

I regret I only waved the last time I saw him. Saying "I see you, hello" is not enough. He deserved more from me than that. He was a fine young man. I didn't tell him.

Children do die, as do we all. When you see someone good, remember Erick and tell them so. I should have told Erick, and now I never can.

Never becomes forever now; what should have been can never be.

COMMENTARY

If a child is sick and not expected to live, the parents and that child live with death every day. And even then, death is not welcome. When it comes, there's always grief and pain and loss. Always.

Erick wasn't sick. He was young, healthy, strong, and good, but an accident still took his life. It was fast. There was no way for all his friends to tell him how much they'll miss him, no way for anyone to pay their last respects where it would have counted most: to Erick, face-to-face.

Viewpoint

New viewpoint on horizon as empty-nester

by BILL SCHROEDER

"Empty-nesters."

That expression, heard countless times, bantered about in idle conversation and used regularly in the news, landed like a block buster. Our local school superintendent, who helped shepherd four young Schroeders through primary school, was talking about me and my wife.

Three weddings in less than two years and son Bob hiking off to Purdue University in fall will empty the nest, all right. "Things are changing". "Life will be different," the school man commented.

For some reason, this writer is having a tough time thinking about a house occupied only by mom, pop, and the dog and cat. After Bob gets his high school diploma Friday, May 20, we'll have the summer to get adjusted.

Is there an Empty-Nesters Anonymous? Maybe that's what I need. From now on, the viewpoint will be different.

PROMISE--- State Rep. John Matijevich (D-North Chicago) may have to pull out the mirrors and magic potions to be in two places at once. Friday, May 20, is expected to be one of the heaviest legislative calls of the current session of the Illinois General Assembly where Matijevich plays a key role in the Democratic leadership. Friday, May 20, also happens to be graduation at Carmel High School where Matijevich's son will be receiving his diploma. "I may have to miss a few roll calls because I promised Rob I wouldn't miss his graduation." Any spare helicopters the legislator can rent?

ADOPT-A-HORSE— If you've ever longed to own a wild horse (who hasn't?), your chance will come Friday, May 13, to Sunday, May 15, at the Lake County Fairgrounds where the U.S. Dept. of the Interior will have 50 wild horses available for adoption. Show up between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and go home with a horse. The animals are halter trained, according to the Bureau of Land Management. Note that's halter trained, not house broken.

Letters To The Editor

Cautious first step

Editor:

The recently signed Intermediate Nuclear Forces (INF) Treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union is a cautious but important first step in the global effort to reduce the threat of nuclear war. The United States, and our Senators in particular, should move quickly to approve the treaty without adding crippling amendments.

While it would reduce the superpowers' nuclear arsenals by only three percent, the INF Treaty represents a significant step toward U.S.-Soviet cooperation and away from the competition and brinkmanship that has characterized the nuclear arms race for the last several years. In addition, the precedent-setting on-site verification provisions contained in the treaty will help pave the way for an even more important agreement to reduce the superpowers' enormous strategic nuclear arsenals.

At the same time, support for the INF Treaty should be coupled with support for restraints on strategic weapons. Congress must not allow support for the INF Treaty to become a smokescreen behind which the arms race in strategic weapons continues to accelerate. Without the existing constraints on offensive and defensive strategic weapons, the weapons included in the INF Treaty could be easily replaced by strategic weapons and the treaty's significant step forward replaced by a major step back.

The League of Women Voters urges quick action in support of the INF Treaty.

Seek agreement

Editor:

In regard to Picket Fence Farm's proposed annexation to Grayslake and subsequent development., and the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist.'s recent decision to purchase the entire 1,300 acres, the following should be noted.

If the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. buys the entire 1,300 acres, the property will be removed from the tax rolls resulting in an immediate loss of present real taxes which are in excess of $60,000 per year.

The owner and developer of this property has allocated over 200 acres for "open space" for public use along with 10 miles of walking and jogging paths, a lake, ponds, etc.

I suggest that the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. contact the owner/developer directly and pursue an amicable agreement without the necessity of a long expensive condemnation court battle.

The owner of Picket Fence Farm previously donated 440 acres for the College of Lake County. He should be given the opportunity along with the Village of Grayslake to settle this matter. This could become a Win-Win situation for the taxpayers of Lake County.

Riders need trails

Editor:

Horseback riders are trying to make a point with the Lake County Forest Preserve Board; we need good multi-use trails with adequate parking space for the numerous large horse trailers many of which are pulled behind a motor home. We also need toilets and water at regular intervals for long rides.

True, the Lake County Board has done much in the way of acquiring the right-of-way in the last few years from the north end of the county to the south end for the Tecumseh Trail and I, personally, have referred other planners to Lake County as an example of what can be done. I also personally testified before the President's Commission for the American Outdoors a year ago and held Lake County up as an example. We feel we need to keep the impetus going, however, to get the proper development done.

Politically speaking

by Joseph Soulak

Will the real Republican leaders in Wauconda Twp. please stand up? Thanks to the exercise of policy by the Lake County Republican Central Committee, maybe they finally can. The brouhaha that, at one point, gave the township two sets of officers has been resolved. The leader and still champion is incumbent township Chairman James Eschenbauch and his slate. They were elected earlier this spring during a meeting of committeemen in Waukegan for a gathering of the county Republican Central Committee. Howard Bieze became a pretender to the title when he, too, was elevated at a separate election using both the "one man, one vote" principle and weighted vote method based on the number of voters in each precinct, just to cover all bases. Both took their case to the Central Committee. Chairman Robert Neal said neither local voting procedures or state statue governs such situations, but party policy does. So, the committee put Eschenbauch back in the driver's seat for another year. This has left Bieze and Co. with sour grapes. It should make for an interesting time in a township that seems to thrive on party feuds.

Tinted windows on cars and trucks could be on their way out. State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) of the 31st District is pushing a measure in Springfield to make this once-popular fad as old-fashioned as Davy Crockett hats. She said the potential ban was prompted by incidents in which police officers were shot when approaching vehicles with tinted windows. Tinted rear windows will still be allowed if the vehicle is equipped with rear-view mirrors.

That Depke name keeps popping up all over. This time it is Shawn Depke, a resident of Grandwood Park and agent with the Illinois Department of Revenue. He recently was re-elected chairman of the Warren Township Republican precinct committeemen for a fourth time. He is following in the footsteps of both his father and mother. His dad, Robert, has been a township supervisor for 27 years. His mother, George Anne, has been a GOP precinct committeewoman in Warren Township for nine years.

Another law that would have affected a lot of truckers got stuck in a Springfield legislative committee last month. It would have banned trucks with mud on them from pulling onto a highway before being cleaned. The measure was sponsored by state Rep. John Matijevich (D-N.Chicago) and had the support of Rep. Robert Churchill (R-Lake Villa). Although directed at all truckers, the particular target was Lake County Grading Co. in Libertyville. Matijevich said many trucks with mud come out of the gravel pit operated by this firm on Milwaukee Ave., south of Rte. 120 and literally "messed up" the highway. He and Churchill said this makes the highway at this point both dangerous and unsightly. Trucker associations across the state helped bury the idea, saying current law protects against muddying roads. What would have happened in Lake County had this bill passed? Would all of the trucks entering and leaving the dozens of new subdivisions being built along main thoroughfares be forced to use the alley, if there were ones, or some other routes?

Hats off to Libertyville Twp. Supervisor F. T. "Mike" Graham. He is the only member of the Lake County Board of Supervisors with a perfect attendance record. He hasn't missed a single meeting in the 24 times the board has met during the past year. He has never been late for a meeting, either. "Full-time township supervisors have, historically, had the best attendance record," he said. "We're full-time public officials and government is a full-time job." He noted part-time board members have other jobs, which often take priority over their county post. "There are some with a high absentee records, but when there is a critical vote your can count on them to show up," Graham said.

A board member with a slightly different record is Charlotte Kiesgan of Dist. 4 representing Avon, Lake Villa, Grant and Antioch townships. She has missed five of this years meetings, or 20 percent of those held. At this rate, before the county year is over, she will miss 10 meetings. She's already made it clear she won't seek re-election next year.

Supervisors who have missed four meetings are James LaBelle, who is combatting cancer, and Robert Neal, both of Dist. 3, and Richard Price of Dist. 1. We don't think Neal or Price have any excuses. That's your elected county board at work.

William Thompson, former regional superintendent of schools, just can't get politics out of his system. The Antioch resident is heading up a committee to get Clinton "Clint" Grinnell slated for sheriff on the Republican ticket this fall. Also on the committee are Arden Babcox of Grayslake, wife of the late Sheriff Robert "Mickey" Babcox, and Barbara Behm, Fremont township clerk where Grinnell lives.

Mervyn Pilotte is a popular person. Director of the Lake County Area Vocational Center and active in Republican county circles for 10 years, he has announced his retirement as a teacher/administrator come next June. He plans to do a little consulting and, if someone asks, some politicing.

A resident of Waukegan and chairman of Mayor Robert Sabonjian's 1985 mayoral campaign, he's being mentioned in connection with that office if "his honor" retires. He also says he might be talked into running for the County Board, or maybe, a state office.

He's got the desire. In 1985 Pilotte filed to run for Waukegan city treasurer, but later withdrew. In the March election he was a candidae for Republican Convention delegate pledged to New York Rep. Jack Kemp.

Piolette will always have his fingers in the county Republican pie. He is treasurer of the Lake County Republicans Organization and secretary of the Waukegan Twp. Republican Organization. Those jobs might have some prestige, but they don't pay much.

Before digging, call underground hotline

A phone call to JULIE could save money, time, phone service or electricity, even a person's life.

JULIE, an abbreviation for Joint Utility Locating Information for Excavators, is a statewide call-in service to tell where buried cable and pipelines are located. People digging in the city of Chicago have a similar service called DIGGER.

Contractors, farmers, homeowners, even gardeners are asked to call JULIE, 1-800-892-0123; at least 48 hours before digging to find out if there is any buried cable or pipelines near their digging site.

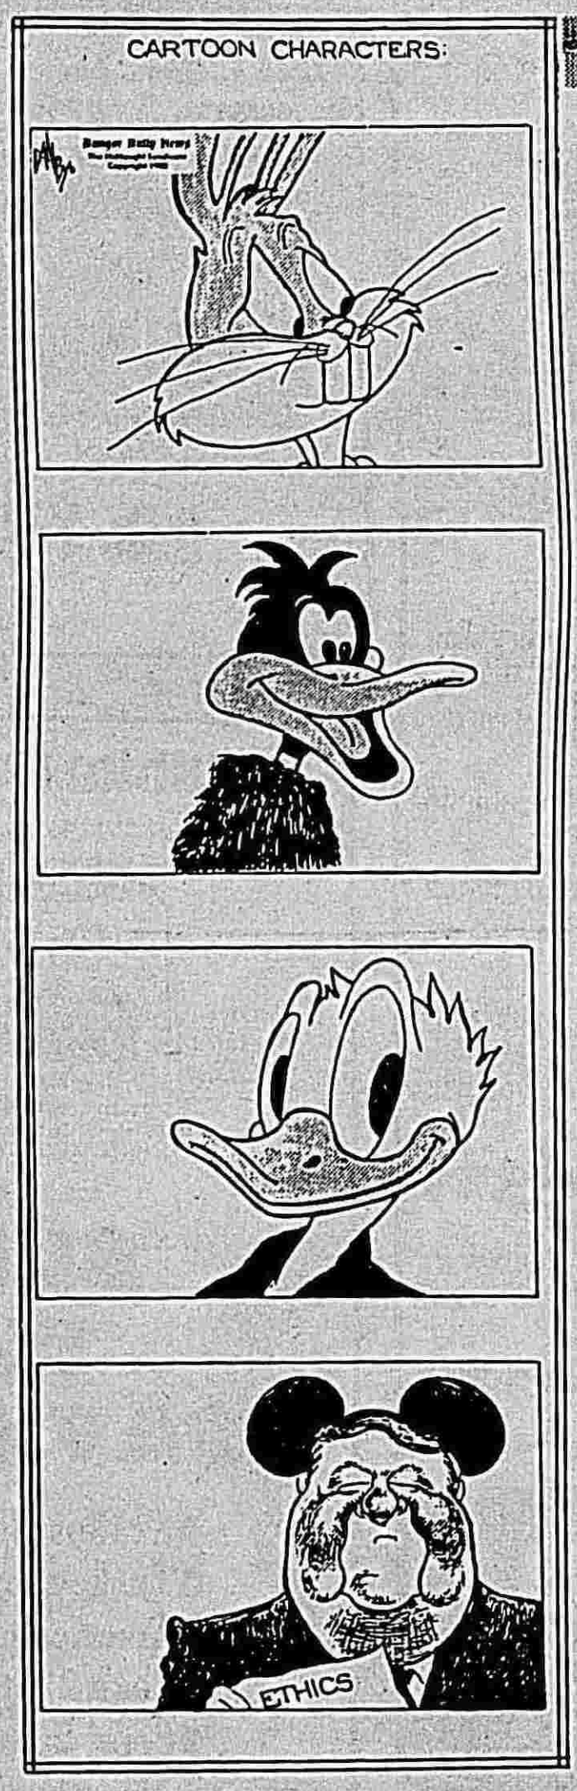

"Utility cables and pipelines are easy to cut and costly to repair," said Stan Jozwiak, Illinois Bell community relations manager. "Damage to one of these cables or pipes could disrupt telephone, electric and gas service to entire neighborhoods."

JULIE was established in 1974 by Illinois Bell and other utilities. Since then, more than two million calls have been made to the cable locating system. Currently, 184 companies, including utilities, cable television companies, long distance telephone carriers and Western Union, are members of the JULIE network.

Last year, Illinois Bell sent technicians to nearly 300,000 sites statewide to mark the location of burried cable. Despite this, more than 2,500 company cables were cut last year, costing more than $2.5 million in repairs.

Although most cuts are caused by contractors, cables can be damaged by farmers, homeowners, even gardeners putting in trees and shrubs.

So when planning to put in a new fence or plant a few trees, pick up the phone and call JULIE before picking up a shovel.

Insurance is answer for park manager

Going from roller-coasters to insurance forms may be something many people would hesitate to do, but Tom Keefe made that move about two years ago and does not regret it.

Keefe, whose Farmer's Insurance office is located at 305 S. Granada Blvd. in Lindenhurst, was a park operations manager at the Great America theme park in Gurnee before going into insurance sales. What inspired him to make the switch?

"I saw it as an opportunity where I could go into business for myself and have flexible hours where I could be with my family, which I really couldn't do sometimes at the park- especially in the summer."

As for why he chose the insurance business, Keefe said, "I wanted to seek out a business that I could learn without having to go back for a lot of full-time school. Also, I had close friends who went into the business and I saw the potential in it."

From theme park management to insurance may seem like a broad jump, but Keefe points out that "When I started at the park, I was in the fire and safety department, so its a somewhat related field. In a way, I've come full circle."

"Its like anything else," Keefe said. "When you like what you're doing, its the thing to do."

Curriculum talk, board opening top Millburn issues

Curriculum issues and a board of education vacancy dominated the April meeting of the Millburn Board of Education.

Because of a reading contest co-sponsored by the World Book Enclopedia Co. and the Millburn Elementary School, every classroom in the building will benefit.

The contest was for each student to read a number of books, collect sponsors who pledged a certain amount for each book read and then at the end of the contest period, collected money from the sponsors based on a percentage of the amount collected.

Some 161 Millburn children paricipated in the program, reading a total of $1,329 books during the seven week period, raising more than $6,000 which was enough money to purchase 11 sets of World Book Encyclopedias and five sets of Childcraft.

Additionally, Beth Delcorps' third grade class will receive a seven volume World Book Enclopedia of Science set for being the class with the highest average number of books read per student.

In another curriculum issue, the board approved a plan to develop a "Teachers' Working Curriculum Guide" during the summer. This development will be under the direction of Ruby Payne, Consultant from the County Board of Education Service Center. In other related curriculum issues, the board expressed its support for the development of an exemplary gifted education program for the 1988-89 school year, adopted the Houghton-Mifflin Language Arts Series for the 1988-89 school year and adopted "Growing Up Well" series to teach the problems with drugs-alcohol in all health classes.

Board members also approved the development of a summer school program in the areas of reading, math, language arts for students that are in need of remediation.

Paul Epner submitted his resignation from the board, creating a vacancy. Epner quit because of a job transfer which will take him out of the country. Anyone interested in filling this vacancy should forward a resume and a letter explaining why they desire to be a board member to: Supt. Lee Smithey, Millburn School, 18550 Millburn Rd., Wadsworth, 60083. Deadline is May 16 and the term will expire in Nov., 1989.

DOCTOR'S FORUM

FIBROCYSTIC BREAST DISEASE AND CANCER

by DR. MARK BOWMAN

The breast gland is made up of many ducts surrounded by glandular and fat tissues. Its main function is to produce and secrete milk.

As part of the reproductive system, the breasts are influenced by the menstrual cycle and are therefore influenced by the female sex hormones and undergo cyclical changes every month.

Fibrocystic breast disease is a noncancerous condition. It is usually marked by the presence of nodules or cysts (sacs of fluid), which may or may not be accompanied by pain and tenderness. Its symptoms fluctuate in response to hormonal changes, especially those associated with menstruation.

Fibrocystic breast disease can occur in one or both breasts. The nodules or cysts can be spread throughout the breast, be located in one general areea, or simply appear as one or more large cysts.

Is fibrocystic breast disease common? It is the most common noncancerous disease of the breast. One out of every four women in the United States will require medication attention sometime in her life regarding a breast problem, and of these, fibrocystic disease is very often diagnosed. This condition can occur at any age after menstruation begins, but it is more likely to appear between the ages of 30 and menopause. After that, it rarely occurs.

The cause of fibrocystic breast disease is unknown. However, most experts believe there must be a relationship to the female sex hormones (possibly an imbalance), because this condition does not appear before menstruation and it rarely occurs after menopause.

One question which always arises is, "Will I get cancer from this?" Although, as previously mentioned, fibrocystic breast disease is a noncancerous condition, there seems to be a two- to three-fold increased risk of breast cancer among women with fibrocystic disease over those who do not have it.

The primary goal of treatment for fibrocystic breast disease is the relief of pain and tenderness, as well as the reduction and/or elimination of cysts. The treatment recommended by the doctor will depend on the severity of the condition. Fibrocystic breast disease by its very nature is cyclical, so symptoms that may be mild at one point in the patient's life can become more severe later.

The condition usually declines during pregnancy and nursing. It may even disappear during these times and never return. Hormonal and pain medication may be prescribed, and if in conjunction with premenstrual syndrome, alternative medications may be prescribed.

Dietary recommendations and vitamin supplementation have also been utilized with success in many instances. The doctor might also suggest wearing loose clothing and a well-padded bra. Lastly, if there are one or more large cysts or "suspicious" nodules, the doctor may recommend a minor surgical procedure (aspiration or biopsy).

For more information about fibrocystic breast disease, please call or make an appointment with the Heritage Medical Center, (312) 395-0085.

Youth sales jobs not that great

Companies that advertise jobs promising large salaries and travel, with all expenses paid, often are not all they seem to be.

Such claims are often made in newspaper want ads, directed mainly at young people and students, to lure them into sales work by offers of high pay, free travel, and career training. The fine print will say, "Parents welcome at interview"

The jobs frequently involve door-to-door sales of chemical products, such as cleaning solutions that promise miracle results, but fail to live up to expectations.

The companies will place an appealing ad in local newspapers with a phone number to set up an interview. Out-of-state companies will usually rent a local motel room for a few days and conduct interviews there.

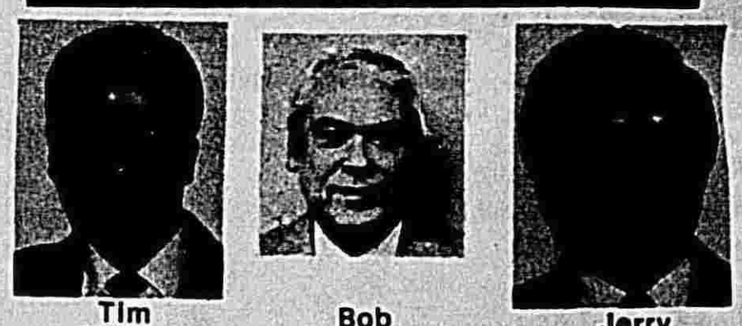

They pressure above-average young people into joining their company with promises of good salary, training, cash advances and travel.

However, these people usually learn the work is on commission and soon they are pressured to meet sales quotas. Sometimes the company will not pay the person if the sales quota has not been met.

College has change in service

Kathleen M. Palkoner, a resident of Libertyville, has been appointed as the new director of food service at the College of Lake County in Grayslake. Palkoner, as of July 1, will oversee the in-house food service operation and college catering services. She has a BS degree in foods/nutrition and formerly served as food service administrator for the University of Illinois-Chicago.

The college board has redefined the previously-established chef position as a full-time service instructor. In addition to assigned instructor responsibilities, the position will also inlcude release time for food production in the insititutional food service operation. The change was prompted by rising enrollments in the food service program and an effort by the college to meet food service needs cost effectively.

Four CLC instructors received approval to take sabbaticals in the 1988-89 academic year: Reggie Coleman, art, will study the art of Third World countries; Tom Hoekstra, music, will research the music of Bach in terms of mathematics, physics and philosophy; Doug Sherman, geology, will do field work to collect geological samples and take photographs; and Tom Vogl,

Doug Sherman reported on the status of the honors program, which began in the fall, 1987, semester. Sherman said he surveyed students in the program, who report that they like the small classes, good teachers and personalized attention. He said some minor changes in the program would be made based on the students' input, but for the most part the program has been successful and will continue.

Western moves into new home

Lincoln Property Company Corporate Real Estate Services, Inc., has announced its most recent transaction involving the placement of Western Diversified Life Insurance in the Corporate 500 Center in Deerfield.

According to Lloyd Gearhart, president of Western Diversified, the company is planning a mid-1988 move to the new offices on the top floor of 510 Lake-Cook Road.

Gail Sturm, senior vice president of Lincoln Property Company Corporate Real Estate Services, Inc., represented Western Diversified in negotiations for the 34,500 square feet of offices. Mitchell Greenburg of Baird and Warner represented the developer, Matas Corporation.

The transaction is the most recent for the newly formed Corporate Real Estate Services Group which specializes in providing complete real estate services for the corporate client.

"We formed the new group in response to requests from corporations we've worked with who need complete real estate capabilities," said Sturm. Lincoln Property Company Corporate Real Estate Services offers real estate market analysis, brokerage, negotiating and build-out quotation services for corporate clients.

"Because of our experience as one of the largest real estate companies in the nation, we're able to assess our client's needs, analyze their portfolio and then take appropriate action," said Sturm. "In some cases, build-to-suit is appropriate, in others a buy or lease decision is needed. We start with the client's needs and then structure a package to meet those needs."

Western Diversified considered a build-to-suit but then quickly rejected that. "Gail was able to take us through the entire transaction and evaluate all of our options," said Gearhart. "Her knowledge of the market and ability to meet our objectives made this transaction possible."

Lincoln Property Company Corporate Real Estate Services can draw on the resources of Lincoln Property Company in the areas of research, market surveys, construction, interiors build-out and property management. "All of these services help us to respond knowledgably to clients who have corporate real estate questions," said Sturm.

The Corporate Real Estate Services group includes three senior vice presidents: John Breumer, N. Peter Maggos and Sturm. For more information about Lincoln Property Company Corporate Real Estate Services, any one of them can be contacted.

Western Diversified provides finance and insurance service programs, extended automobile service contracts and computer systems to automobile dealerships and financial institutions.

Lincoln Property Company is the nation's second largest real estate developer with complete real estate service capabilities.

Regional shopping center to serve Lake, McHenry County

Extensive dredging will be the first phase of construction of a 230 acre complex that will include a regional shopping center serving west Lake County and east McHenry County.

The dredging, to be started immediately, will provide an inlet off the Fox River to a bay south of McHenry that will be the site of a resort marina which will be the keystone of Fox Bay.

The overall complex, fronting on Rte. 120 with front on the river in the form of a T, is expected to be open by the spring of 1990.

Fox Bay is being developed by Fox Bay Partners, a partnership consisting of Walter P. Hoffelder, Kenneth A. Zinsow, who developed the Abbey and Pioneer Inn, two world call Wisconsin resorts, Raymond J. Roberts of Barrington and Zinsow's son, John.

Participating in development of the resort will be the Fritz Schnoor family of Fox Lake. The Schnoors have extensive experience in marina operation, including Chain O' Lakes Harbor and One Hundred Marina.

Fox Bay Shopping Center will be developed by Fox Bay Partners and Tim Schwartz and Associates.

John Zinsow said the developers are looking for a theme, probably along nautical lines.

"Our theme will be based on local history and the fact that the river brings people together," he stated.

McHenry County highway officials reportedly are in accordance for the extension southward of Chapel Hill Rd., a key part of developmental planning. Chapel Hill Rd. will connect with River Rd. which runs south from McHenry along the east bank of the Fox River.

The remainder of the property will be devoted to construction of multi-family and single family dwellings.

Schwartz, whose experience includes the Hamilton Hotel, Itasca, said the shopping center will be built on a 22 acre site at Rte. 120 and Chapel Hill Rd. and will include three or four anchor stores plus a variety of retail and service businesses.

The center will be geared to serve 90,000 persons.

WHO PAYS FOR DEVELOPING PROPERTY???

The open space advocates would like the general public to believe that development is paid for by the taxpayer...NOT TRUE!!!!!

HERE IS A TYPICAL DEVELOPMENT OF 40 ACRES DEVELOPED INTO 90 LOTS

LAND $600,000.00 at $15,000 per acre:

Soil Study	Sewer System
Legal Fees	Water System
Engineer-Developer	Storm Water System
Engineer-Village	Storm Retention or Detention
Surveys	Curbs
Financing	Pavement
Letter of Credit	Sidewalks
Taxes	Parkways and Trees
Offsite Improvements	Street Signs
Street Lights	School and Park Donations

Totally Paid For By Developer—$2,200,000

Total Cost To Taxpayer–0-ZERO

ADVANTAGES TO THE TAXPAYERS AS FOLLOWS!!!

90 Lots With $180,000 Home And Lot.

Average Tax Bill Per Year $5,000

Tax Revenue Created By Development: 90 Lots X $5,000 Equals $450,000

$450,000 X 20 Years Equals: $9,000,000 For Expansion Of Schools, Parks, Police, and Fire Depts.

Now–To buy 40 acres for open space with taxpayers dollars it would cost $600,00 plus legal fees.

It would remove the property from the tax rolls another $60,000 plus over 20 years loss of revenue from goods purchased in local stores. The cost to the taxpayer would be OVERWHELMING.

These facts are from a local developer in the Grayslake Area of Lake County, where the Lake County Forest Preserve District Board is trying to acquire 1340 acres of land and take it off the tax rolls forever.

TAXPAYERS: THINK!!! THINK!!! THINK!!! THINK!!!

Business center, permit bid win zoning board's approval

A request for a multi-million business park and a special use permit both won favorable recommendations from the Grayslake Zoning Board of Appeals and were forwarded to the Plats and Subs Committee of the Grayslake Village Board.

Highland Lake resident Harry Kirchkardt and Phillip and Susan Fentress submitted a petition for manufacturing, assembly and package of medical-scientific products and equipment at 36 S. Whitney St. in Grayslake.

John Waldenstrom's Center St. Square, to be built off Atkinson Rd. bordered by Center St. and Rte. 120, won approval. The $31 million project on 75 acres will include limited industrial zoning.

"I felt there was need for additional shopping in Grayslake," developer Waldenstrom told the board.

Waldenstrom stressed there would be masonary construction of the buildings. Board member Carl Miller suggsted a covanent be placed in the agreement considering the masonary construction.

The minimum lot size will be 15,000 square feet.

"This will become our corridor of business," Waldenstrom said.

Center St. would be zoned for general business.

A resident at the meeting asked the board about Atkinson Rd. improvements. Board members responded that plans call for the road to be expanded to three lanes.

Earl Young said drainage along Atkinson Rd. "has been a problem for quite some time".

"We have interested parties in all three areas," Waldenstrom said of the site.

Board Chairman Charles Eiden said he "is concerned about the image people get when they drive into Grayslake".

Family raises funds for mother

Funds to help offset medical costs for a Lake Villa mother of four are being raised by family members and friends through a series of fund raisers.

Dora Peregrin of 36607 N. Mary Dr. contracted cancer in October and was given six months to live. She and her husband, Gregory, are the parents of four children, 20 months old through age seven.

Prior to learning the bad news, the family built an additon to their home. Due to a series of changes in his job, the husband no longer earns the money to care for the family in its current circumstances with mounting medical bills.

More fund raisers are planned. Those who would like to help or contribute may call David Peregrin at (312) 546-2151.

Ask state to pay bills in 30 days

Legislation has been introduced in the Illinois House that would require state agencies to pay their bills on time or face an interest penalty, according to state Rep. Dick Klemm (R-Cystal Lake) of the 63rd District, sponsor of the measure.

"A lot of small businessess operate on a limited cash-flow basis," Klemm said. "If they can't get their money back in a short period of time, it can cause them some real problems. Either they have to borrow the money on a short term basis to stay afloat or simply wait it out. Either way, it's a situation that shouldn't exist."

The legislation (HB 3297) would make several important changes to the State Prompt Pay Act, Klemm explained.

"This legislation provides a strong incentive for state agencies to pay their bills on time, which is simply good practice for government and business," added Klemm.

Thank You

The FAMILY OF ERICK GORDON wishes to thank the entire area for their warm sympathies, care, and concern that helped us through our recent loss.
Special thanks to the youth of Grayslake High School and all of Erick's friends at the Roller Rink. Often these younger people are criticized; but when recognition is due, many times they are not spotlighted.
Thanks also to our neighbors from Highland Lake for their warm support.
We would also like to thank Bill Dunn, his wife Linda and family. Bill was newly ordained as Deacon at Santa Maria del Popolo Catholic Church on April 30. His first official duty as Deacon was to minister last rites to Erick. We will always be grateful for this compassionate act.

Sewer costs could triple for users

Sewerage treatment costs could triple for area homeowners from the current $10 per month to $30 or more within a few years. Fox Lake Mayor William Dam says this will happen unless the village receives a grant, interest-free loan or some other funding to expand the Northwest Regional Treatment Plant in its community.

Dam has advised area communities served by the Fox Lake plant to begin raising monthly charges in $1 and $2 increments so the ultimate charge will not seem so harsh. Served by the plant are Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Park, Round Lake Heights, Hainesville, the Lakes Region Sanitary Dist. and Round Lake Sanitary Dist. Lake Villa may also join this group as it considers forming a separate sanitary district.

Reason for the rate increase is the need to expand the Fox Lake treatment plant. Designed to handle 6 million gallons of sewerage per day, because of design and mechanical reliability problems, the plant capacity is closer to 3.2 million gallons per day with a current plant flow of approximately 4.8 million gallons per day.

Although the plant is not on the state's critical review or restricted list, it is likely the plant will violate its state discharge permit within three years, plant Supt. Rick Leber says. When that happens the village will be given three years to bring it into compliance.

First-phase construciton would bring capacity to 6.2 million gallons per day, which would cost $8.2 million. Second-phase construction to follow almost immediately would raise capacity to 9 million gallons per day at a cost of $19 million. Second-phase work would cost significantly more due to the need to include extra treatment steps.

With a grant or low-interest loan, user costs can be held down. Without outside financial help, costs will triple, Dam says.

Of the current $10 per month charge, $6 goes to Fox Lake and $4 to Lake County. In addition, the current connection fee to the Lake County collection system is $300 per dwelling unit. Fox Lake charges another $1,000 for connecting to the sewerage treatment plant.

Villages don't necessarily like what they hear from Fox Lake, but all realize the necessity to provide efficient sewer service over the long term for the fast-growing part of Lake County

Open new area health permit site

Residents, contractors, restaurant, tavern, and food store owners or managers of Lake Villa, Avon, Antioch, Grant, Newport and Warren townships can receive the services of the Environmental Health Division of the Lake County Health Department at a new northwest satellite office beginning Monday, May 9. It is located at 121 E. Grand Ave., Lake Villa. The Division of Nursing Services will also offer health education and blood pressure tests, by appointment, at this location. Off-street and handicapped parking is available. Office hours are Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The telephone number is (312)356-6222.

At the new office, individuals will be able to pick up and return water sample bottles, register nuisance and sanitation complaints, and request soil evaluations, well and septic surveys.

Contractors may bring in septic system plans and receive septic and water well permits. Food establishment and temporary food service permits will also be issued at the office. The office will be home base for several sanitarians, nurses, and support personnel.

"We are very pleased to offer environmental health services, and health promotion services in a location convenient to persons in the northwest portion of Lake County, now they will no longer have to travel to Waukegan for service," said Dr. Steven R. Potsic, executive director of the Lake County Health Dept. He added that staff travel time will be greatly reduced, thus improving the Health Department's efficiency.

DOCTOR'S FORUM

ADULT IMMUNIZATION

By Dr. Mark Bowman

Everyone knows the importance of a childhood immunization program, but what about adults? With the success of immunization programs in the United States, there is an increased risk of unimmunized patients reaching adulthood without being exposed to the so-called childhood illnesses, such as mumps, measles and rubella. What follows is a discussion of potential adult infections and associated immunizations.

Tatanus and diptheria: More than 75 cases of tetanus occur annually, virtually all of them in unimmunized or inadequately immunized adults. Diptheria is a very serious upper respiratory infection. Of the reported cases, 60 percent were in adults 20 years old and older.

For adults who have had proper immunization schedule as a child, a booster every 10 years is required. The booster is given as a diptheria-tetanus toxoid (Td.) Unimmunized individuals required a series of the vaccine.

Mumps, measles and rubella: At 15 months of age, most children receive their MMR (mumps, measles and rubella) vaccine. All three of these infections have declined in incidence over the past 30 years due to vaccination programs. However, there are periods when outbreaks occur either from importation of the disease or from nonimmunized individuals. For measles, vaccination is recommended if you were born after 1956 and never had measles, were never vaccinated, or had received the vaccine between 1963 and 1967.

For mumps, a disease which objectively involves swelling of the parotid glands (by the jaw bone), vaccination is recommended if you have not been vaccinated, or never had mumps.

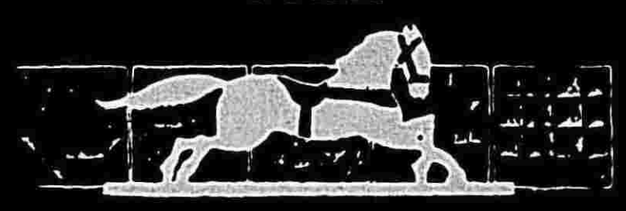

Rubella, or German measles, is a mild viral infection which would be of no consequence, except for its potential to cause birth defects in mothers exposed during the first trimester of pregnancy. Vaccination for rubella is recommended for adults, particularly women, unless proof of immunity is available.

It should be noted that if the MMR vaccine was given before one year of age, revaccination is recommended. Also, this vaccine should not be given to pregnant women, immune suppressed individuals or those allergic to eggs or neomycin.

Polio. Again, because of childhood immunizations, poliomyelitis is rarely seen today in the United States. If a person has never received this vaccine, a series of immunizations is required. Routine polio vaccine, however, is not required for adults. Immunization is strongly recommended for adults visiting developing nations, particularly in Africa and Asia. This is done simply by taking one dose of OPV (oral polio vaccine).

For more information about adult immunization, please call or make an appointment with the Heritage Medical Center, (312) 395-0085.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

FROM THE OFFICE OF DR. PAUL ABLER

TREATING CORNS

Corns are the product of friction and pressure-and more. Most corns are symptoms of some underlying disorder, such as a bone deformity.

Corn pads may provide some temporary relief but they do not solve the problem. They do not address the underlying cause. Moreover, wearing a corn pad too long can aggravate the situation. Salicylate pads may cause chemical burns.

What is needed is permanent relief by podiatric treatment.

A podiatrist removes dead tissue expertly with appropriate instruments. He or she will determine the underlying cause in order to provide effective treatment.

For example, if bony projections are the cause, surgery by the podiatrist may be necessary.

Lions Camp teaches love, sharing

A whole new world--that's what awaits youngsters at Camp Lions this summer.

According to John Bock Jr., of Belleville, chairman of the Lions state coordinating committee on Camp Lions, many of the children, ages eight to 16, who come from all over the state, have, for the most part, led protected lives before they came to Camp Lions.

They have had little or no contact with other youngsters their age--hearing impaired or sight-impaired, outside of school.

At Camp Lions, they learn there are other children their age with similar impairments who swim, play games, ride horseback, and make do for themselves, much the same as other children their age.

They also learn how to care of themselves; how to make their own beds, clean their cabins and work and play together.

"It's an entirely new experience for most of these youths," Bock said. Most will come away with a new sense of their own importance and with new skills, skills which will last their entire life.

Camp Lions is uniquely geared to the needs of blind and deaf children. The counselors for instance, are all college age, many of them with similar impairments, who are trained to work with these special children. Many know sign language or can otherwise converse with the children. They know the children's need for love, companinship and for a hug now and then.

Lions have been involved in the camp for the last 31 years, first at Ravenswood, which is located in Lake Villa, and which accommodates children primarily from the northern half of the state. Then in Camp Lions Touch of Nature, near Carbondale, which takes children from the southern half of the state.

Both camps are similar in orientation, but Touch of Nature is more adventure and outdoors oriented, while Ravenswood depends more on traditional camping activities such as boating, hiking, arts and crafts. Both camps are operated by the Lions, through the Lions of Illinois Foundation, the Lion's charitable and philanthropic affiliate.

Friendly two some

Attendance is limited to children with vision or hearing impairments. A vision impairment, for classification purposes, is defined as ranging between total blindness and 20/20 in both eyes after correction. Children with hearing impairments are eligible if the impairment adversely affects their speech and language development, and if as a result, the child requires a hearing aid or uses some other means of communication. Campers must also be ambulatory and able to perform self-help skills.

Eligible children can attend either camp, both of which are funded primarily through Lions Candy Day, held annually statewide. This year's sale is set for Friday, October 14.

For information, or to apply, contact you local Lions Club and or the Lions of Illinois Foundation Camp Lions Program, 7321 W. Lake St., River Forest, Ill. 60305 or telephone (312)771-5800.

A Take Care Of Yourself For A Sound Mind And A Healthy Body

This is month for La Leche mothers

As Illinois Breastfeeding Promotion Month has been proclaimed by Gov. James Thompson, La Leche groups in Lake County will recognize mothers for their role in providing their infants with the best nutrutional beginning.

The name La Leche (lay chay), is Spanish and means "the milk". A non-sectarian, non-profit organization, the league offers a unique service to breastfeeding mothers. It shares the latest breastfeeding research and information coupled with actual experience. For more than 30 years, La Leche League has provided support and encouragement to women who want to nurse their babies. During those years, many exciting changes in parenting practices and attitudes have evolved--including a resurgence in breastfeeding, and the endorsements of breastfeeding by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the Canadian Peditric Society.

La Leche groups hold monthly meetings on topics which include: advantages of breastfeeding, adjustments of a new baby, overcoming difficulties and nutrition and weaning. The meetings are led by mothers who have breastfed their own babies and have been accredited by La Leche League International.

There are six groups in Lake County: Waukegan, Zion, Grayslake, Round Lake, and two groups in Libertyville. The goal is that through breastfeeding a mother develops her own parenting style and learns to understands and respond to her own baby's needs. The hope is that a mother will come away with a positive attitude about her importance to her baby.

For further information about La Leche or any of the local groups call (312)587-2957.

American Red Cross of Lake County will present a swimming workshop in May for all persons involved in swimming or boating courses this summer. The program will include legal liability, safe boating, new beginner swim program, new backboard and resusitation techniques. It will be presented Saturday, May 21, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Tamarak Day Camp in Lincolnshire.

Persons interested in more details or in attending, please call the American Red Cross office at (312)949-1000.

'Safe kids' program set May 18

A lot of attention has been given in the national media lately to the plight of "latchkey kids" children who must spend time alone while parents are away, especially after school. Many communities have developed after school programs for these kids, but these programs may not be available to all parents.

The University of Illinois has been offering a training program to parents, teachers and other concerned adults in the Lake County area for the past two years, and many children have benefitted as a result.

A Take Care Of Yourself For A Sound Mind And A Healthy Body

'Cognitive,' 'Procedural' two words to learn

by LEO W. TANNENBAUM, M.D.

The medical profession, as in all structured groups, has its own jargon or word use. It is not necessary for everyone to be familiar with the terminology unless it influences medical care or its cost. There are two words that we'll be hearing more often. The first is "Cognitive". Put simply, cognitive medical care is the part that depends on the knowledge that the doctor has or uses to get you well. He or she knows what's wrong with you or can order tests that will determine your illness and help you. Sometimes this takes hours of investigating or study to find the right diagnosis. The doctor, a family practitioner or internist, usually has spent years reaching proficiency; the fee, even in prepaid plans, should mirror this.

The second word is "Procedural". Put simply, procedural medicine is what the doctor does using a tool or skill to get you well. It may be a surgical procedure such as removing a gall bladder or the use of intricate equipment to look into a body organ. This doctor also spent years learning his craft. His fee mirrors the length of time it takes, skill, and experience needed for performing the procedure.

When life was less complicated and the majority of physicians were general practitioners, boundaries between cognitive and procedural medicine were not drawn as strictly. They did both at whatever level of training or experience they had achieved. Even now, the divisions between the two are not like the Berlin Wall. The doctor oriented toward doing things with scalpel or instrument has to learn how to do the procedure and when it is appropriate. This takes some cognitive work, too. The doctor oriented to cognitive skills uses hours of time to take detailed history, work out of the most intricate of diagnoses, and may go to the literature to grasp the problem. Usually this doctor can do some (diagnostic) procedures that will make treatment more appropriate. Most people, if asked, would shrug off a question as to the relative value of these two distinctive kinds of doctor, saying it doesn't matter as long as they get you well. This kind of answer is given too quickly because people don't really believe this. They really think it perfectly reasonable for the man who does gall bladder or heart surgery to get 10 to 50 times more than one who spends a week saving someone from a coma.

An internist friend (cognitive) told me that he had spent three hours in the operation room helping a surgeon (procedural) whose patient, undergoing a routine procedure, suddenly developed a heart problem that threatened life. He followed the patient's progress until it was safe to discharge him. The surgeon's fee was six times that of the internist and Medicare balked at his reasonable fee.

"Look, I said, "The world doesn't pay for thinking that can't be seen. It pays for something that, when done, is visible. Those who do things, also think. But their work can be seen. The telephone repair man, the carpenter and the plumber are examples. A man who came out to replace the cable that lifts my garage door billed me thirty-two dollars (not counting materials). I certainly don't begrudge him that; everyone knows services and goods have gone up. Then one of our doctors on the staff told me that he had been making a housecall to an invalid for years for twenty dollars. He felt, since the patient could afford it, he should raise the fee by several dollars. He took the precaution to ask Medicare first. The response was abrupt and stern. If he did this, he would be subject to censure or fine. There was implied loss of his priveledge to treat Medicare patients. The doctor's fee was frozen unfairly.

This wouldn't interest the ordinary person except that is affects us all. Anything the government does is, with few exceptions, copied by the insurance companies, the HMO's or your employer. There is a double standard here; housecalls are encouraged, but here discouraged by this behavior. Housecalls are usually cognitive. We need both the cognitive and the procedural doctors for good medical care. They don't want to quarrel because Medicare people act like a well known tv commercial instigating a bellegerance between two sides that yell stridently that the brew is "better tasting or less filling". Primary care physicians (internists and family practitioners) would like fairness in fees because they spend hours on the patient that go unrecognized. Surgeons certainly would go along with that but don't want their fees lowered to accommodate their colleagues. The Medicare payers want to cut the fees of both.

Musings. Harvard University is working on a relative value scale in cooperation with 100 other groups attempting to arrive at a fair allotment of fees. Not yet reported, there already are whispers of it not being even-handed. If some super agency made such decisions it would go astray as have others, never satisfying anyone. Relative Value Scale (RVS) will be used only to insist that, they are the same. Most of us are uncomfortable with that thought. In our hearts we'd like to believe that as individuals we should get personalized care and not have it decreed beforehand. Becoming familiar with the two words will help us understand fees.

Local center treats low vision patients

by Barry L. Seiller

Residents on Chicago's North Shore now have a clinic specializing in low vision problems close to home, since the April 6 opening of the Low Vison Center in Waukegan.

Since there is no other low vision center within a 40- to 60-mile radius of the new Waukegan center, area patients with low vision previously had to travel as far away as either Milwaukee, Rockford, Wheaton or Chicago for help.

Because low vision patients are those whose sight cannot be corrected through conventional means with eyeglasses or contact lenses, the lack of a local clinic specializing in their problem represented a great hardship.

"Many low vision patients cannot even see to drive, and yet the closest clinics for them were more than an hour away," explained Barry L. Seiller, M.D. Waukegan ophthalmologist and founder of the Low Vision Center. "Now they have the care they need right in their own backyard."

The center offers comprehensive services for the low vision patient. Its doctors evaluate the remaining sight of patients, prescribe low vision aids and offer training and instruction that will help patients to make the most of their limited sight.

The center carries the entire spectrum of low vision aids available to patients today, including special lenses, magnifiers, telescopes and large print reading materials.

It is staffed by eye care professionals with special expertise and training in caring for those with low vision. And because the center is affiliated with the Eye Care Center of Lake County, patients are assured access to a complete eye care center providing services ranging from surgery to eyeglass dispensing.

Lisa M. Koward, O.D., a doctor of optometry who specializes in low vision problems, is director of the clinic.

Condell opens speech clinic

Speech Pathology Dept. of Condell Memorial Hospital will open its summer speech therapy clinic for school-aged and preschool children on Monday, June 20, at the hospital, 900 Garfield Ave., Libertyville. Due to the success of last year's clinic, the program has been extended to eight weeks.

Kim Broy, MS, CCC-SP, heads the Summer Speech Therapy Clinic. It will provide individual and group sessions two or three times a week, depending upon need. Since many children receive speech pathology services in school, the main thrust behind this program is to prevent regression of newly acquired speech and language skills during the summer when school is out.

The clinic is also open to preschool children who exhibit speech and/or language difficulties but who are not yet receiving services through a school system. Parent involvement is also encouraged, to carry over an individualized home program.

A Take Care Of Yourself For A Sound Mind And A Healthy Body

Shortage of nurses exceeded by shortage of health pros

The American Society of Allied Health Professionals (ASAHP) reports that a serious and intractable shortage of qualified health care personnel is one of the most critical problems the health care system must face in the years ahead.

ASAHP president Thomas Freeland explained that changes in delivery settings such as an increase in long-term care and home care settings; reimbursement policies; and demographic changes, such as an increasing aging population will create additional demands for these health professionals.

In addiiton, an AIDS epidemic affecting 50,000 individuals, severe faculty shortages and a lack of federal attention and financial support to allied health education also contribute to shortages in these professions.

Severe shortages will be particularly noticeable in the areas of occupational and physical therapy, audiology, speech and language pathology, radiological technology, laboratory technology, dietetics, dental hygiene and medical records administration.

In response to concerns by these and other deans in universities across the country, ASAHP is committed to a variety of educational and research initiatives. "As the recognized national coalition in allied health, we are examining the challenges of shortages in allied health personnel through conferences, publications, and a variety of marketing and research efforts," said Freeland.

For example, to enhance the image of allied health professionals, ASAHP is hosting career awareness seminars for high school students and adults who are considering a career in allied health.

The society is also sponsoring a variety of joint programs with related health associations, in an effort to successfully market the allied health professions.

At the University of Health Sciences in Lake County, the School of Related Health Sciences offers programs in medical technology, physical therapy and a degree completion program in nursing.

The baccalaureate programs in medical technology and nursing are part-time programs allowing the student the opportunity to work while in school. The departments of physical therapy and medical technology also offer part-time master's degree programs.

Due to the documented shortages of personnel and the diversification of career opportunities, graduates of an allied health program will have even higher job prospects in the next decade.

The extensive scientific base in the undergraduate curriculum of the allied health professional has, in part, established their versatility. The increasing diversity of organizations and invididuals who seek ASAHP graduates is overwhelming, because their skills and credentials are impressive—enough so to fit in all phases of health care, business and education.

For more information on allied health education programs leading to a bachelor's or master's degree, contact the School of Related Health Sciences at (312)578-3304.

A photography exhibit featuring the work of a former Art Inst. of Chicago teacher will open at the College of Lake County's Community Gallery of Art with a reception on Friday, May 27, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Documentary photographer Harold Allen celebrates 50 years of photography in 1988. He is widely recognized for his documentary style using architecture and landscape as subjects. His work will be displayed at CLC through Thursday, July 7.

Allen's assignment as an Air Force photographer in Europe during World War II triggered a lifelong interest in old architecture. English cathedrals and the architecture of Versailles and Fontainebleau were subjects of his off-duty camera.

Back in the United States, his interest in architecture and landscape continued. His book of photographs and accompanying text, "Father Ravalli's Missions," documents two early American Indian missions in the northwest.

Students plan show for International school

The International Academy of Merchandising and Design, Ltd., announces its 1988 fashion show, "LaMode du Temps" (fashion of the times). Participating in the show are Kathy May, Gurnee, and Linda Kern of Vernon Hills. Two shows will be held on Monday, May 23, at 1 and 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn Mart Plaza, Grand Ballroom, 350 N. Orleans, Chicago.

The annual fashion show gives students the opportunity to apply the classroom skills and techniques they've learned all year, according to Charlotte Moore, dean and director of the Chicago campus.

Some 300 students, in all, will participate in the event. Fashion design students will construct over 250 garments, displaying a kaleidoscope of interpretations for the spring/summer season.

Tickets are $15 per person for the matinee and evening shows. A special student rate for high school students is $6, and is valid for the matinee show only. For tickets and information, call the International Academy at (312)828-0202.

Chain orchestra gives concert

The Chain O'Lakes Orchestra will hold its Spring Concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 15, in the new auditorium in building C at the College of Lake County, Grayslake. Members of the orchestra include both professional and amateur musicians from throughout the area.

The orchestra and concert are sponsored by the Chain O'Lakes Cultural Arts Assn., a non-profit organization. The orchestra has performed many concerts in the Fox Lake area, and hopes to make these available to a wider audience with its move to the college.

ROCK TRACKS

By Rob Ferrus

Billy Idol's controversial video for his current single, "Hot In The City," may have been banned from MTV, but it has been shown in another prominent forum, the National Association of Religious Broadcasters Convention in Washington, D.C. The religious broadcasters used the video as an example of everything they feel is wrong with rock music today, but instead of letting the audience judge for themselves, they blanked out the portions they considered offensive. By describing the missing portions in lurid detail and inflaming the imaginations of his listeners, panel moderator Bob Larsen was able to create the impression that Idol had produced a pornographic work of horrifying dimensions.

You're probably wondering which scenes were omitted: several quick shots of young women dressed in leather outfits, and a cut in which Idol's longtime girlfriend, Perri Lister, is hoisted onto a Plexiglas cross. I can understand how some people may be offended by this sort of thing, but, after all, that's what the channel selector is for.

When The Beatles stopped playing music almost 20 years ago, they also stopped licensing products, so for two decades there have been no Beatle products whatsoever. Even now, Apple Co. executives consented only after determining that the art prints being offered by Targeted Communications maintained the artistic integrity of The Beatles' work. Twelve original album covers are featured from Please Please Me (1963) to Let It Be (1970), plus an anthology print which includes all twelve. For $20 you can have a new Beatles print staring at you from across your living room, as opposed to a multi-thousand dollar Warhol can of Campbell's soup. (Not even Chunky!)

The back cover of Graham Parker's The Mona Lisa's Sister album employs a photograph of Graham taken by his wife, Jolie Parker, and the front cover art consists only of a painting done by his late father-in-law, Jack Drummond. Parker named the LP after the painting, which also served as the inspiration for the haunting lyrics of the release's first single, "Get Started. Start A Fire."

NICC draws fishermen who win many prizes

The first Walleye Tournament is now history. Keith Johnson and Randy Moghtych of Lake Zurich landed 5.51 pounds of walleyes during the one-day event. High winds and rough waves proved to be tough conditions as the 41 teams landed only eight walleyes for the tournament.

Johnson and Moghtych had three of the total walleyes of legal size and boated six fish all day. Whitecaps rolled across the Chain O' Lakes as all teams looked for some quiet areas to fish. Main lake points became unfishable as the winds hit up to 40 mph.

Mike Gofron of Antioch caught the largest walleye of the tournament at 3.69 pounds, as his partner, Rich Batraglia, netted the winning fish and moved them into second place.

Thom Matejewski and Joe Schechiel took third place with 3.14 pounds landed up the Fox River. Traveling from Canton, it made the trip a good one.

Fourth place went to Darrel Glasey and Lloyd Ladd from Spring Grove, with 2.42 pounds. Fifth place was the father and son team of Jimmie Powers, Sr., and Jr., from Crystal Lake, with 1.75 pounds.

The sixth place winners were Frank Felde and John Jubuck of McHenry, with a single walleye of 1.34 pounds. The tournament proved that even under the worst fishing conditons anglers will still land some fish when they work hard.

Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Chicago was the sponsor of the $1,000 guaranteed event, which saw first place take home $1,075.91 The Northern Illinois Conservation Club hosted the event and have three more tournaments scheduled this season.

The next event is on May 22, from Wasz's Playtime Resort, and sponsored by Old Style.

The State of Illinois has stocked over 30 million walleye in the Chain O' Lakes in the past six years. Information can be gotten by calling (312)356-FISH. Entry fees are $100 per team, with a championship held on Oct. 29 and 30.

All profits from the tournaments are being put into a new rearing pond, which this year will raise bass for the Chain O' Lakes.

Tom Mazur is tournament director and Bob Lindquist is publicity chairman.

Getting lowest air fares takes some shopping

The American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) is the largest professional travel trade association in the world. The goal of the organization is to uphold the integrity of the travel industry and inform and advise the traveling public on all aspects of travel.

ASTA says that there are some 338 airlines offering flights throughout North America, with each airline setting its own prices. No wonder it seems like the sky's the limit when you try to get a low fare. The problem is, the biggest bargains always seem to be sold out.

According to ASTA president Francis Goranin, you can maximize your opportunities to get the most economical fares by keeping the following in mind: Be flexible. Try to arrange travel during off-peak times or outside holiday periods; also, purchase your tickets as far in advance as possible. This "locks in" the fare you booked, even if an airline later raises the fare before you travel. On the other hand, if the airline lowers its fare after you have bought your tickets, but before you travel, the airline should refund the difference to you.

Try different airports in your area. You may find there are differences in price for the same route.

If you can, stay over Saturday night or longer. You may be able to qualify for some bargain fares.

See or call your local ASTA travel agent. These professionals have the latest information needed to get the best possible fare to your destination.

Robinson Crusoe, with style

by JIM WARNKEN
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Can I interest you in a vacation in which your hotel room is a tent?

What if this tent was located on miles of uninhabited, pure white sand beach where the only sounds are the parrots in the palm trees and the steady rhythm of surf from the turquoise-blue ocean at your front door? Now lets add a staff of Mayan Indians to clean and cook for you? This is not a KOA camp grounds at the Dells!

Before I give away the name of my secret get-a-way, let me tell you a little more about it.

As I said, your "room" is a tent. A very large tent with a double bed. Mayan maids clean the tent and change your bedding daily. You're further protected by a thatch patio cover with two multi-colored hammocks out in front. If you're not right on the ocean, you're just a few steps from it.

The beach, which really does stretch further than the eye can see, is all yours. I walked for over an hour and did not see another sign of civilization. Just 200 yards off shore is a superb reef teeming with sea life for the snorkeler. The reef also provides for excellent swimming since it protects the beach area from rip tides or undertow.

Meal time is an experience. One night we had lobster newburg. That in itself sounds good. But add to that the fact the lobster was caught that morning right out our back door and you've got some fresh seafood. Most of the vegetables and fresh fruit is grown right at the resort. Desserts are anything from flan to flaming crepe.

All this is served by candle light as there is no electricity. The property is lighted by torches at night. The nearest phone? About four miles away.

The name? Its called Kai Luum. Where is it? About 35 miles south of Cancun, Mexico down a narrow hard packed road through some very dense jungle. The price? Less than $30 a person, meals and all taxes included! Sound a little too primitive for you?

Language is English, money is U.S. in Virgin Islands

English is the language, American dollars are the currency, and paradise is the best description of what awaits visitors to the U.S. Virgin Islands. Better still, many travel agents are offering packages to this American paradise that boasts a warm, sunny climate, fantastic beaches and lush tropical scenery.

Accommodations range from deluxe beachfront resorts, for those who crave pampering, to historic guest houses for those who prefer more local flavor. Romantics can even opt to stay in a 300-year-old castle for real old fashioned hospitality.

Because the U.S. Virgin Islands are a duty free port, shoppers won't want to miss the incredible bargains on crystal, jewelry, gold, perfumes, liquor and fashions.

And the duty free allowance is double here—$800 per person—so you can bring home twice as many bargains. History here is rich, too, steeped in the romantic legends of pirates such as Bluebeard, Blackbeard, Captain Kidd and Sir Francis Drake.

Each of the three main islands that make up the U.S. Virgins has its own character, and it's easy to combine all three in one visit.

St. Thomas is the most cosmopolitan of the three, yet the natural beauty of the island remains. Here, you'll find Magens Bay, named "one of the 10 most beautiful beaches in world" by National Geographic Magazine.

St. Croix, 40 miles south of St. Thomas, is the largest of the three U.S. Virgins. Here, shops have a more individual flavor and the quaint towns have more distinctively Danish touches.

St. John is the most tranquil of the three, with 60 percent of the island a 6,000-acre national park.

Green Up Time

Don't make roadside highway litter ground

Set for spring and summer? Weary of winterish weather?

The time has come, it appears, for the motorist to set sights on the springtime scene and head for the open road.

All too often, however, he is greeted by a bleak blight instead of flora and fauna.

Litter. That's what the motorist finds. All sorts of it. Auto jacks, broken bottles, spark plugs, cigarette butts, soft drink cans, fast food wrappers, empty anti-freeze containers, car hoods, disposable cups, newspapers, gloves, half-used jars.

A limitless list, literally. Picking up such litter is a large and endless task. For the last month, the Dept. of Transportation has been getting some help from Workfare forces and state prison inmates.

Indications are that this year's litter pickup totals will equal those of last year. During 1987, selected prisoners picked up 104,337 trash bags of litter from the state's highways throughout Illinois. That reflects a total of 59,672 inmate man hours along a total of 5,462 miles of highways.

In Northeastern Illinois alone—Cook, Lake, McHenry, DuPage, Kane and Will Counties—the totals were 71,662 trash bags, 26,072 inmate man hours and 828 highway miles.

Despite such continuing cleanup efforts, the pesky problem persists. In an effort to resolve it, the Dept. of Transportation has requested extra enforcement from the Illinois State Police and the Chicago Police Dept.

There are exisiting laws requiring trucks to be property loaded or covered, and stricter enforcement of laws governing truck load littering continues to be sought.

Anyone who sees trucks dropping litter is asked to contact the Dept. of Transportation to report it and identify the truck by company name and license number. The telephone number is (312)705-4161.

The same phone number can be used to report persons dumping debris onto expressway rights-of-way from adjoining neighborhood areas.

A lot of the litter, it appears, is discarded by motorists who regard the roadside as a free dumping ground.

It's not free! It costs the state an estimated $5 million a year in labor and equipment to clean it up. That tab is in addition to what it costs cities, villages, townships and other governmental units to clear out the trash in their areas.

That's money out of the taxpayers' pockets. It's money that could be used for filling potholes, resurfacing roads, repairing bridges or taking care of road-related needs.

Most people would not throw money out the window. But every time they toss a bottle or a sack, or whatever, out the car window they are—literally—throwing away tax money.

Of course the answer is obvious: Don't throw anything onto the roadside.

Illinois law prohibits the disposing of "offensive matter" along the roadways of the state.

Tell Health Dept. where animals roam

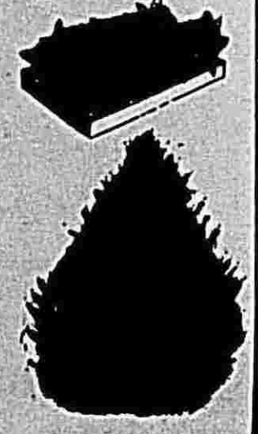

With the summer season almost here, more dogs and cats are running loose.

The Animal/Rabies Control Program of the Lake County Health Dept. wants to know about areas in the county having problems with stray animals.

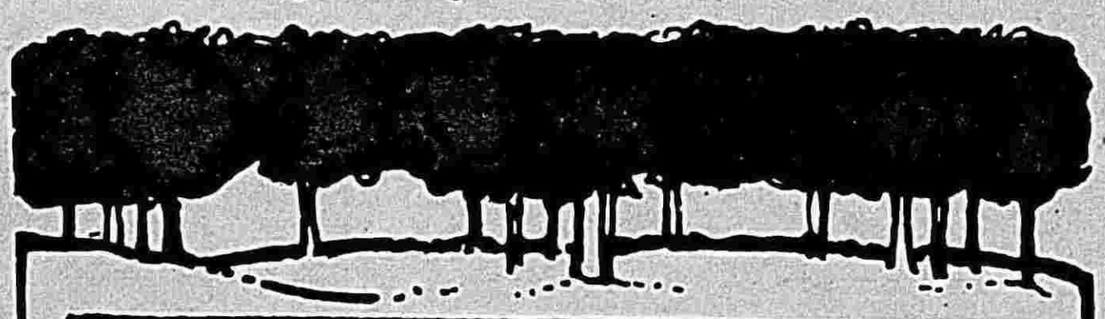

Residents are urged to call (312)526-5336, or stop by the animal shelter in the Lakewood Forest Preserve, Rte. 176, west of Fairfield Rd. (two miles east of Wauconda) to discuss animal problems in their neighborhoods. In areas of the county's jurisdiction, animal wardens provide early morning and evening patrols for stray animals. Complaints from areas covered by municipal agreements will be referred to the appropriate municipal agency.

Owners of dogs or cats should make certain their pets are vaccinated against rabies. The Lake County rabies control ordinance requires all dogs and cats have a Lake County rabies tag attached to their collar at all times as proof of vaccination status. The tags are available from the Health Dept. and from certain municipalities upon presentation of the vaccination certificate obtained from a veterinarian.

Major dog show set for June 17

Dog fanciers from all over the United States and Canada look foward to a weekend in June with great excitement and anticipation. This weekend provides competition for amateur and professinal dog handlers, breeders, pet owners, and everyone who enjoys watching pure-bred dogs at their best.

Almost 5,000 dogs, representing over 120 breeds, will be competing for the top prizes in all-breed and specialty shows being held throughout the Chicagoland area.

The competition begins Friday, June 17 at 8 a.m. with the Skokie Valley Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show. This show will be held outdoors at the College of Lake County in Grayslake.

Saturday, June 18, individual breed clubs will be having specialty dog shows at different locations in and around Chicago. The largest of these shows is sponsored by the Great Lakes Terrier Assn.

Over 800 entries from 15 different terrier breeds will be competing indoors at the Lake County Fairgrounds, Rtes. 45 and 120 in Grayslake.

The final competition of the weekend will be held Sunday, June 19 at the 37th annual Chain O'Lakes Kennel Club All-Breed Dog Show. This show will also be held at the Lake County Fairgrounds from 8 a.m. until one dog remains in the judging as "Best in Show". For more information contact Bridget Gierahn, show coordinator, Great Lakes Terrier Assn., 1925 Morse Ave., Des Plaines, Il. 60018 or call (312)299-2811.

CLC softball takes full advantage of new life

The College of Lake County's softball team had just written off the 1988 season as history.

McHenry had seemingly won the sectional title with a 1-0 win a few days before. It was time to add more hours to the work schedule now that softball is over.

But all that was before CLC softball Coach Sue Garcia was informed that McHenry had forfeited the title after learning a player was one credit shy of eligibility. After McHenry turned itself in to the NJCAA, the Lancers were given the title.

"This weekend was a plus because we got a second chance," Garcia said of the regional tournament in Rockford.

And the Lancers, with a new life and all, came close to winning the title, but finished in second behind Triton. After beating Illinois Valley 4-2, CLC beat Moraine Valley 7-1 and 2-0.

"We were in the driver's seat and in the championship bracket," Garcia said.

Triton, though, proved too much for CLC, beating the Lancers 4-1 and 3-1 to end CLC's season and advance to the national tournament.

"McHenry had a player in the all-star game and they were cheering up a storm for us," Garcia said.

The tournament started out on a bright note for CLC. The Lancers scored three of their four runs against Illinois Valley in the first inning. Deanna Brua and Kelly Hanson singled and Deb Scoggin was safe on a fielder's choice to load the bases. After Brua scored, Jill Tegtmeyer singled home two runs with a double.

In the third, Brua reached on an error and later scored on a single by Tegtmeyer.

Tegtmeyer was not only the owner of a hot bat, going two-for-three, but struck out six, while walking three and allowing just four hits as the winning pitcher.

Wendy Christina had two-for-three in the Lancers' seven hit attack.

The first inning was also beneficial to CLC in the first win over Moraine Valley. The Lancers scored four runs that frame, highlighted by a two-run triple by Tegtmeyer. Pam Wignot also had an rbi single.

Warren grad Lisa Gowe was the winning pitcher in that game, allowing four hits while striking out two and walking three.

In the first game against Triton, Triton scored two of its three runs on two errors on the same play in the third inning.

Tegtmeyer allowed just three hits in the loss.

CLC then faced elimination in the second game against Triton. Triton took a 1-0 lead in the fifth but CLC tied it. Triton scored one in the fifth and another in the seventh to win the game.

CLC finished the season with a 20-31 overall record, leaving its coach pleased.

Tegtmeyer, Hanson, Brua, Scoggin and Jill Garross were named to the all-tournament team.

Tegtmeyer, a sophomore, was first team all region while Hanson and Scoggin were named to the second team.

Cake tastes sweet after JHS wins meet

And then they ate cake.

Johnsburg's girls track team celebrated winning the 1988 Northwest Suburban Conference track and field meet by dunking Coach Bob Texidor in a post-game cake.

Moments before, the Skyhawks had ate up the NWSC teams winning the meet at Marengo by 16 points over second-place Grant. The Skyhawks trailed Grant 72-71 at one point but quickly made amends and the final result was not even close, with Johnsburg outscoring Grant 110-94. Marengo was third with 87 and Grayslake was the next highest area finisher, edging Marian Central 63-61.

The Skyhawks, sporting t-shirts which read "1988 McHenry County Meet Champions", fared well in both invidual events and relay runs as depth carried the winners.

"They were just the better team here," Grant Coach Jim Taylor said as the Skyhawks won the mile relay.

Taylor, though, said he was pleased with his team's showing before this weekend's sectionals.

"We're very pleased with what we've done. We had a lot of personal bests," he said.

The Bulldogs had more than given JHS a run for its money in dual event, losing just 69-64.

Johnsburg's Carolyn Shine won a first and second place finish for the Skyhawks. She tossed the shot put 32.7 and won in the discus with a toss of 93-11. Teammate Lisa Davison was fifth with an 85-6. Grayslake's Sandy Padjen was fourth at 89-1.

Vicky Jansen of Grant gave the Bulldogs a first-place finish with a 149.5 in the long jump but Johnsburg still picked up points as Beth Barret was third. Sandy Cortesi of Wauconda was fourth and Nickey Duax of Round Lake fifth.

Grant's Nicole Czechowski, a freshman, garnered 20 points for the Bulldogs with a first-place finish in the mile and two-mile runs.

Johnsburg beat Wauconda in the 800 meter relay with a 1:59.2 with Grayslake capturing third at 2:01, Grant fourth, Round Lake fifth and Lake Zurich sixth.

In other relays, Grant nipped Johnsburg for first in the 3,200 meter relay.

Grayslake's Chris Lupori won the 300 meter hurdles in 48.7, getting a judgment call over Marengo's Kim Volkening. Ami Rainer of Round Lake was third, Beth Strauck of Johnsburg fourth.

Nancy Brenner also earned the Rams a first with a 27.2 in the 200 meter dash and Lupori was third with a 28.1, topping Johnsburg's Angie deWolfe.

Grayslake earned a third place in the 800 meter relay, finishing behind Johnsburg and Wauconda.

Mustangs bounce back, may have say in NSC race

Mundelein's baseball team could have easily thought the North Suburban Conference race was over.

After all, the Mustangs had just lost two tough games to NSC rival Niles North, dropping them to .500 in league play before a doubleheader Saturday against North Chicago.

But these Mustangs then took their frustrations out on the Warhawks, winning two six-inning games, 15-5 and 10-0.

"It was nice to come back and sweep North Chicago after losing to Niles North," Mundelein Coach Fred Picket said afterward.

The wins put the Mustangs back in the NSC baseball picture at 7-5, 11-8 overall as Mundelein battled co-leader Stevenson before the final doubleheader of the season May 14 at home against Zion-Benton.

Dave Smith was the winning pitcher in the first game against North Chicago. The contest was one in which the Mustangs led all the way but never could quite put the Warhawks away with the 10-run rule.

Smith had a RBI single for Mundelein's first run in the first. Tony Veechie singled and Jim Casper and Mark Mathews made it 3-0 in the third.

North Chicago made it close for a while in its half of the inning. Jerome Whitehead singled and later scored on a sacrifice fly.

Mundelein answered with a four-spot in the fourth. Veechie singled to start things off and scored on a single by Jim Casper. Smith then poked a doble to score Casper.

With two out, two-run homer to left for a 7-1 lead.

North Chicago came to within five runs after two were out in its half. Marvin Coleman tripled and later scored for a 7-2 lead.

Mundelein seemingly put the game away when it sent nine hitters to the plate and scored five runs in the fifth on just two hits. Singles by Veechie and Smith knocked out North Chicago pitcher Jeff Patterson.

With the score 8-2, Mundelein scored a run on a delayed steal, a bases-loaded walk, a fielder's choice gone astray, another walk and a sacrifice fly.

Mundelein was hoping for an early ending to the contest but North Chicago extended the drama a few more minutes with three in the fifth.

Anthony Burton had an RBI double which made it 12-4.

Mundelein put the hosts away for good in the sixth with three more runs. Dan Casper slid underneath North Chicago's catcher for a run, Porcelius had an RBI single as did Mike Kranz.

Graham Haas was the star of the second game, as he allowed just two hits.

"Haas has an unrthodoxed style which makes him effective," Picket said.

Haas also proved to be one of the Mustangs' most reliable defensive players. He snared several line drives which would have gone for base hits to center field.

Already ahead 4-0, Mundelein tallied five times in the fourth.

Jim Casper delivered an RBI single, Mathews doubled and Porcelius had a two-run double to make it 8-0.

Against Niles North, both of the losses to the Vikings were by one run.

In the first game, Mundelein led 3-0 and 5-2, only to see Niles North rally four two runs in the sixth and seventh innings for a 6-5 win.

Two days later, Mundelein trailed 4-0 but rallied to come to within 4-3, only to see the Vikings score the winning run in the sixth on a wild pitch.

Marian Central's win streak slows Grayslake, Lake Zurich

Marian Central's softball team could not have picked a worse time to start a winning streak.

At least that is opinion of Grayslake's softball team, which was upset by the Hurricanes 6-2 in Northwest Suburban Conference play May 6.

"It was especially disappointing because we beat ourselves," Grayslake Coach Elaine Frantz said.

The Rams came into the contest with a 5-1 NWSC record and had defeated Marian Central 7-3 in the first round.

But five errors and an offense which garnered just one hit doomed the Rams.

Grayslake had a 2-0 lead in thefirst inning, but Marian answered with one in the third and three in the sixth.

The Hurricanes had upset another NWSC power, Lake Zurich, two nights earlier for their first conference win.

Grayslake scored its runs in the first on a single by Jessica Elsner.

Earlier, Grayslake clubbed Johnsburg 10-1 as the Rams collected nine hits. Stephanie Caliendo was two-for-three and Kristi Blasius and Laura Phillips each had two hits.

Alice Norton was the winning pitcher, allowing four hits and striking out four Skyhawks.

Musselwhite throws no-hitter, MHS win streak reaches 19

Mundelein's softball team is now hoping that the 1988 North Suburban Conference championship will not come down to a final conference game situation.

In fact, the Mustangs would like nothing better than to administer the knockout punch to the final contender - Zion-Benton in a home doubleheader May 14. Game time for the openis 10:30 a.m.

"Wouldn't that be great,?" Mundelein Coach Jim deRivera said of the possibility.

The Mustangs put together another banner week for themselves last week, beating two NSC second-division teams four times. The wins increased the almost season-long win streak to 19 games, 12-0 in the NSC.

One of the wins was a 13-1 win over Niles North in which ace pitcher Susan Musselwhite notched another no-hitter. It was her third gem this season and 10th overall. Musselwhite struck out nine Viking batters in the victory.

Niles North's lone run scored on a walk, a sacrifice and an error in the fifth.

Mundelein had a 14-hit attack to support Musselwhite. Musselwhite, Denise Hartmann and Lynette Kowalke all had home runs. Ashley Struggles was three-for-five, Cindy Shark two-for-four and Hartmann two-for-five on the day. Mundelein also was helped by seven Niles North errors.

Two days earlier against the Vikings, the Mustangs scored three runs in the first and third innings en route to a 6-2 win over Niles North.

Muselwhite struck out 14 in that game.

Following the sweep of Niles North, the Mustangs showed winless North Chicago just why they should win the NSC race.

Musselwhite was the winning pitcher in the first game as the visitors racked up 25 hits. Mundelein scored 20 runs in the first four innings of the five-inning game.

Struggles had a homer in a two-for-five day, Cindy Shark was one-for-two with a double and a run-batted-in and Julie Wanland had a triple.

Lynette Kowalke raised her record to 8-0 in the second game as Mundelein won 11-0. Kowalke struck out three and gave up no walks in the one-hitter, also was a force with the bat. Kowlake's three-run single in the first inning gave her a 3-0 lead.

In other games involving contenders, Libertyville swept Lake Forest 7-4 and 13-6. Antioch upset Stevenson 13-9 but the Patriots rallied to win game two 9-8.

Wilmot Speedway highlights more feature races, winners

Four new feature winners joined the ranks of the main event this season at Toft's Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway in Wilmot, Wis. on May 7.

Heading the list was Kenosha's Joe Roe in his Ateco Racing engines Gambler sporting an experimental wing from New York as he outlasted Kim Moulis to win the 25-lap J&L Oil Interstate Racing Assn. feature. Slinger's Tom Johnson topped the modified field in their 20-lap run. George Dukas of Zion captured the hotly contested Wilmot late model 20-lapper while Dean Sadowski of Union Grove in the Mule Train Team Chevelle took top honors in the 15-lap spectator stock main.

Upcoming events at Wilmot Speedway will be winged sprints, modifieds, Wilmot late models and on May 14 and the first Sunday race set for May 22. The night will be Burcraft Auto Body $2 General Admission Night. May 21 is Antioch Auto Body Parts night. Wilmot will host All Star Sprints on May 18 with a rain date of May 19.

On Saturday, Roe jumped out in front early and held the top spot through the race's only caution on lap 16 when Tom Pfefferle spun. Moulis moved along side Roe several times during the final nine circuits, but Roe was up to the challenge.

Zeman, Gordy, 3 others resign as head ACHS mentors

Antioch High School athletes will be getting to know several new head coaches next fall as five head coaching positions exist at the school.

Athletic Dir. Harold Abramson is conducting interviews this week among staff members for the open positions of head basketball coach as Don Zeman resigned that position. The three other openings are for girls track and field, bowling and softball.

All five are leaving their coaching positions for various reasons and some may stay on the teaching staff at ACHS.

Zeman cited community pressure as his reason for leaving after six years as head mentor.

"I'm frustrated by not getting the support I need," Zeman said.

Zeman's squad had won 13 games over the past two years, but had had success in prior years, including winning a regional tournament.

Zeman said positive things were happening at the underclass levels but it might take a few years to see the fruits of that labor. A new offense and defense had been installed this year more suitable to the Sequoits' talents.

Zeman had a 69-92 record as head mentor overall.

"He was on the fence at the end of this season," Abramson said of Zeman.

Antioch High was Zeman's first head coaching position after graduating from Dartmouth College.

Zeman said he is now deciding whether or not to remain as a teacher at Antioch.

For softball Coach Mike Gordy, the decision to resign that position boiled down to other coaching responsiblities and family concerns.

"Part of it is my class load but also I felt it would be better for the school in the long run if I just coached football," he said.

Gordy was 41-34 in four years at the helm of the softball program.

Gordy said coaching one sport would allow him to have more time with his two young children. "I have two small children and coaching is a six-day-week job. They see me when I leave at 8 a.m. and return at 5 or 6 p.m.," Gordy said.

Girls bowling Coach Rich Brown, girls track and field Coach Glinda Szydlowksi and girls gymnastics Coach Deb Rommel are also resigning as head coaches.

This year's coaching changes started at Antioch when 10-year veteran football Coach Steve Wapon decided to resign to concentrate on administrative duties.

Bears overcome rally attempt keep league streak alive

Although no one is running away with the Northwest Suburban Conference baseball title, Lake Zurich may be the hottest club.

The Bears notched their fourth straight league win with a close 5-4 victory over Round Lake May 4. The win gave the Bears a 5-3 NWSC mark and a tie with Grayslake after the Rams lost to Marian Central.

"We feel we're in pretty good shape after a 1-3 start," Lake Zurich Coach Kent Stocking said.

The Bears had to survive two seventh inning home runs by Round Lake as the Panthers tried to rally from a 5-1 deficit.

Troy Ong was the winning pitcher for the Bears, striking out three and walking three. Ong sprained an ankle in the sixth inning, though and was removed in favor of relief pitcher Scott Krezeminski. Krezeminski then gave up the two homers after two out.

"That's a tough way to get a save," Stocking said.

Earlier, the Bears overcame six errors to beat Marian Central 8-6.

"We can play real bad defense at times," Stocking said.

Lake Zurich scored six of its eight runs in the first two innings. Mike Baillie had a double and triple and two rbis. Dave Anderson had double in the first for an RBI. Jeff Sweet had an RBI single.

Sheltons end one sports career, begin another anew

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

The exact day when it happened is not that important.

Pat McCann, as was his custom in the late 1960s, came to the Shelton home in Gurnee to babysit Ron and Kathy's son Derek. This time, though, McCann brought something with him.

A catcher's equipment. Shelton took to the "Tools of ignorance" as they are called in the trade almost instantly. Some 15 years later, Shelton is completing his four-year career as a three-sport athlete.

On a warm and sunny day, Derek Shelton and his coach-father-friend Ron reflected on what all those years of playing catch, basketball camps and late dinners have meant at an empty Gurnee American Legion Field.

"I could see when Derek was real young that he obviously had the good skills," Ron Shelton said.

He also knew the best way for his eldest son to make it to the big time baseball.

"If we did any planning, we planned Derek's positions. We wanted him to play positions that took leadership and skill. Catcher is the easiest way to make it to the big leagues because everyone is always looking for a catcher," Ron Shelton said.

"I like to be in every play," Derek Shelton said.

Of the three sports Derek Shelton played at Warren, football was the most difficult. He did not have the blazing speed some quarterbacks possess.

"Football was probably the sport where I had to work the hardest," Derek, who did not play football until seventh grade, said.

Yet, by the time his senior year ended, Shelton was in a one-on-one passing duel with Erick Slowick of Niles North.

Ron Shelton said his son has had the advantage of the coaching abilities of Warren coaches such as Mike Kunkle, Reggie Hughes and Darryl Bader's tips for many years.

He began his hoops career by attending Warren High summer camps as early as second grade.

"He was a gym rat as a kid. He was always asking me if he could play against my freshmen team," Ron said.

Derek Shelton

March 14, 1988 at Waukegan East High School: With 23 seconds left, Shelton steals the ball from East's Victor Orange to save the day, then found Dave Sjong open on the right baseline. Three-pointer, swish. Warren wins 44-41 to advance to Sweet Sixteen.

It doesn't take very long to figure out the Shelton family's connection to sports. A glass backboard, not wooden, is out in the driveway and neighbors are playing and sometimes stuffing on a lowered net.

Once inside the Gurnee home, a treck downstairs to the den will readily point out Dad's No. 37 Baltimore Orioles uniform and the trophy case.

"We're a pretty sports minded family. My career with the Orioles helped. It showed me what it takes to make it to a certain level," Shelton said.

Shelton knew early on he may be critized as showing favoritism for playing his son. But that never materialized.

Oct. 23, 1986 at Stevenson High in Prairie View: Warren trails 9-7 to Stevenson with less than two minutes to go in the second to last game of the regular season. Needing to win to make the playoffs, Warren marches to the Stevenson 13. Shelton, on fourth down, calls an audible and rushes up the middle for a two-yard gain. Moments later, Mike Wagner scores from two yards out. The defense holds and Warren wins 14-9 and makes the playoffs.

"The closest you could say I came to that was when I promoted Derek to the varsity as a sophomore. He took the challenge. If anything, I was a little harder on him than the other kids. He was prepared for that," the coach said.

There are now just four games left on Warren's regular season schedule and last week a letter of intent was signed so Derek Shelton could add his name to a long list of Warren athletes continuning their careers - he will be playing at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

"I have not thought about it as my final month. I know there will be an end, but I am just taking things game by game," Shelton said.

Feb. 5, 1988 at Viking Junior High School in Gurnee: Craig Shelton, playing guard for the Viking School basketball team, scores nine points and contributes to his team's rally in a 39-36 win over Highland which gained the Vikings their own championship. Viking finishes the season at 20-1.

"He can beat me one-on-one in basketball," Derek said of Craig.

"That's a tribute to Derek," Shelton Sr. said.

He said it was Derek who showed Craig the fundamentals early on.

Like his older brother, football may be harder for Craig.

But lately, he has experienced an interest in the sport and come next fall, who knows.

Randy and Ricky Splitt leave opponents seeing double

The situation first confronted Carmel Coach Joe Pudlo in the summer of 1986.

Randy and Ricky Splitt both reported for sophomore football practice, eager to earn a starting berth and maybe make the varsity team.

"I was their sophomore football coach and I could not tell them apart then," Pudlo recalled.

The dilemma exists for all at the Mundelein campus to this day.

The Splitt brothers are contributing to the success of the Corsairs baseball team not only as senior outfielders, but identical twins at that.

The likeness does not end with looks. The duo bat one-two in the lineup, too as No 14 Ri. Splitt is followed by No. 8 Ra. Splitt.

Being identical twins does have its advantages in high school. The Splitts said one served a dentention for another and was not caught.

While there is a natural degree of sibling rivarly involved, Pudlo thinks its beneficial.

"They're ,comeptitive in a good way," Pudlo said. "I think they're friends, too and that has helped us as a team".

As the East Suburban Catholic Conference season dawned two weeks ago, Ricky was hitting .424 average, had 11 of 12 stolen bases, three triples and 15 Runs Batted In. Randy had comparable stats, a .368 batting average, eight-for-eight steals, 13 RBIs, three triples and 19 runs scored.

"All we talked about at home was trying to outdo one another," Randy said.

And the two Splitts knew quickly about what competition was all about. They had 14 brothers and sisters in the Hawthorn Woods home. The next youngest is 15 years older, but the Splitts received encouragement from older brothers and sisters to attend Carmel.

Both Splitts worked on perfecting their hitting skills at the Grand Slam Hitting League. They were part of a Carmel foursome which won the title.

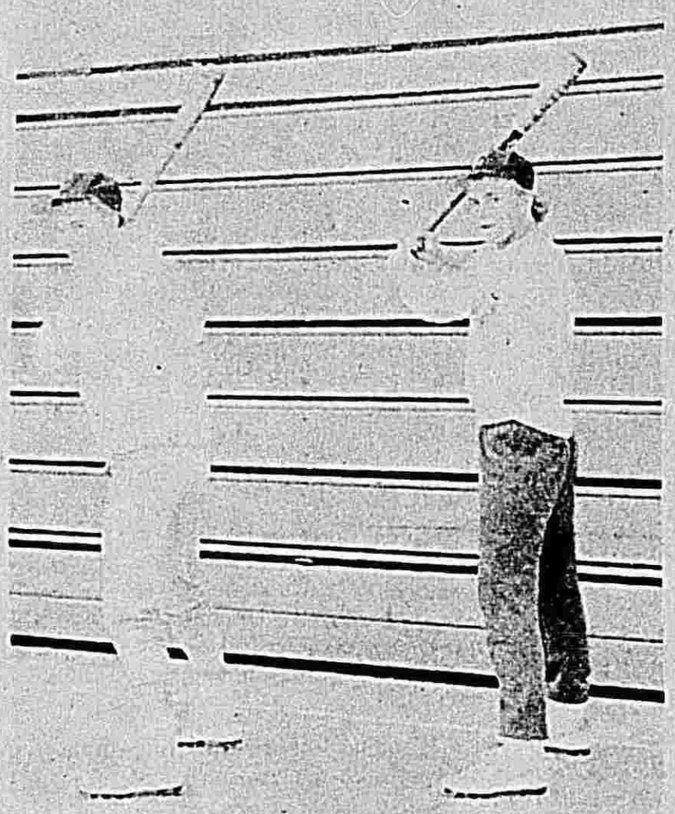

"It helped a lot. Randy and I can hit to the opposite field a lot better," Ricky said.

The next question considering the Splitts will be college.

"Everyone wants to know if we are going to go to the same college," Randy said.

"If they keep improving, I think they can become great college ballplayers. They can do everything well," Pudlo said.

And when the Splitts graduate next June, that will not mean the name will be striken from the lineup. Sophomore Chris Splitt could make contributions to the varsity. If nothing else, Pudlo will know only one person will answer to "Splitt".

Seeing double
Carmel students, teammates and coaches as well as opponents have trouble deciding who's who when the Splitt brothers are together. Randy, left, and Ricky are identical twins and outfielders for Carmel's baseball team.

Select Cherry to direct

Bonnie Brook Golf Course Pro-Manager Ed Staffan accomplished two firsts in one simple move.

Steffan hired John Cherry to be the Golf Professional at the Greenshire Golf Course located at 38729 Lewis Ave. It will be Cherry's first head golf pro and Greenshire's first season under the direction of a golf professional.

Cherry is looking forward to the challenge.

"I am looking forward to functioning as the head golf pro at Greenshire," Cherry said. Cheery completed a Class A aprenticeship under the tutelage of Golf Pro Randy Cochrane at Chicago Heights Country Club. Cochrane said Cherry is perfect for the position at Greenshire.

"Cherry maintains an excellent standard of professionalism. He is well-rounded in merchandising and teaching," Cochrane said.

Explaining his point
Carmel baseball Coach Joe Pudlo explains a point of strategy to Corsairs during first game of doubleheader against St. Joseph. Carmel lost first game 4-0 but bounced back to earn split with 8-4 win in game two.

Jensenn hurls at Upper Iowa

Former Round Lake prep Kelly Jensenn is a member of the 1988 Upper Iowa University softball team. Jensenn, a 1987 graduate of Round Lake High School, is a freshman majoring in business.

Upper Iowa is under the guidance of second year coach Deb McCarty, and participates in the Iowa Inter-Collegiate Conference, which features several teams rated in the top twenty nationally. Coach McCarty had these comments about Kelly, "Kelly is the number one pitcher, capable of interchanging pitching styles. She pitched a tough 2-1 loss against Central College, who was ranked number two nationally at the time. Kelly knows that pitching requires long hours and lots of patience."

New track surfaces 'spring' up at local high schools

by TIM McCANN

Lake County High Schools are taking steps to put some 'bounce' back in high school track and field.

Grayslake High School has joined other area schools in replacing the old cinder ash running surface track with a new all-weather rubber track. "The old cinder tracks are just too difficult and time consuming to maintain anymore," said Grayslake High School Business Manager Dave Bonner. "Plus with everyone else running metric distances, a 440 yard track is getting outdated," Bonner said, referring to the area trend of installing the new rubber tracks.

Lake Zurich, Antioch and Grayslake High Schools are all running on new surfaces this year and are soon to be followed by Wauconda High School, which has just awarded a contract for construction of a new track.

The new tracks are made up of layers of shredded tire material from old tires, according to Bonner. "Its a ground-up type of rubber component. The process is somewhat amazing," he explained. "They freeze the tire rubber and then crush it and remove all the steal belt material from it. Then its all melted down and mixed together into the final surface material."

Bonner believes that this new surface, which is quite "bouncy" to even walk on, may even be responsible for some students running faster times in everything from gym classes to track meets. "We've definitely noticed a difference in kids' times. All the physical education fitness times are improved; the kids run faster on it. Whether the difference is psychological or not, I don't know. But they are running faster."

"In the last few years, before we got this track we had to schedule most of our meets away because we either didn't have enough lanes or we weren't able to get any cinder to put down on the track. Cinder is very hard to find these days," Bonner explained. "One year, however, we went out of our way to schedule a certain meet here because we knew our track would slow the other team down." He added that the metric conversion of other school's tracks also made Grayslake unqualified to hold some meets.

Safety was also a concern in the school's decision to install the new all-weather surface. Often times runners either lose their balance or trip and fall down in the course of a race. The cinder particles which made up the older surfaces were very coarse and could easily cause cuts, embedding the cinder particles in an athlete's leg.

The rubber track material was also applied to the pole-vault and triple-jump runways as well as the shot-put area at Grayslake.

According to Bonner, it took almost three days to prepare the old cinder track for an upcoming meet. "We just couldn't properly maintain it anymore. The surface had to be rolled down, lane lines had to be marked before every meet and grooves had to be cut for them. Now, with the new surface, we'll attend to re-colorization of the lines about eight to ten years down the line."

Lake Zurich High School, which just dedicated its track in a ribbon cutting ceremony held this spring, requested a red surface be applied to their track. Wauconda High School, on the other hand, has opted not to add any colorization to their surface, deciding instead to leave the rubber track black.

Wauconda cited the additional cost of the colorization and "the historic problems with the quality of colored track surfaces," according to Wauconda School Dist. 118 Architectural Consultant Kerry Leonard. Leonard recommended to the District school board that the contract for construction of their track be awarded to a Woodstock paving company at a cost of $128,000. Grayslake High School, which has been running on their surface for a couple months now, has a green track to match the school's colors.

Bonner encourages all residents to come over to the high school and use the track. "Its one of the better tracks in the county and its there to be used. Residents, by all means are invited to come run on it. That's what it is there for."

Musselwhite-led Mustangs keep on rolling to championship

When a North Suburban Conference softball team purchased a new pitching machine over the winter, it quickly acquired a nickname.

At each practice, team members would swing bats, hoping to get solid hits off "Susan".

"Susan", of course, is reference to Mundelein star pitcher Susan Musselwhite.

Although the challenges of the post-season are still ahead and the NSC title yet to be officially locked up, Musselwhite has already had a banner year.

Since a 7-6 opening-season loss to Cary-Grove, Musselwhite has won eight straight games, the latest a three-hit gem over a Warren team which had come into the contest undfeated in league play.

And there will be that certain day in April at MHS that Musselwhite and Coach Jim DeRivera will never forget. Facing the minimum of 21 batters against Antioch, Musselwhite scored a school first with a perfect game.

"We just wanted to win," the soft-spoken Musselwhite said.

deRivera and assistant coach Perry Wilheim knew the contest would be not an ordinary softball game, an 8-0 Mundelein win.

"Coach and I were aware of it from the beginning," he said.

Reports about Musselwhite, who wears now familiar No. 35, spread quickly last year after she moved to Mundelein from Mississippi. But this year, she has proved even more effective.

"I'm using my changeup more," Musselwhite said.

Warren Coach Chris Woodard said she instructs her team not to be thinking about opposing a pitcher who can throw upwards of 60 MPH.

"I tell them to swing down on the ball and hit it on the ground," she said.

While best known for her pitching prowess, Musselwhite, who also plays basketball for the Mustangs, is no slouch when it comes to hitting, either.

For example, after the memorable Antioch win, the Mustangs faced Libertyville in two games Thursday. Musselwhite started the Mustangs off on the right foot with a two-run homer as Mundelein won 14-2. She also had two triples, six Runs Batted In and three runs scored. She had a single in the regulary scheduled game won by MHS 4-0.

Musselwhite is adided on the mound by capable sophomore Lisa Kowalke. Kowalke was undefeated in six decisions after beating Libertyville in the regularly scheduled game.

The last two years have been banner years for the Mundelein softball program, which is no stranger to success. The Mustangs have won or shared each NSC softball title since 1984. Last year the Mustangs won the Libertville regional and came within six outs of advancing to Pekin.

That level of success has had deRivera happy about a decision he made more than 10 years ago.

"It was a difficult decision to start coaching softball, but I'm glad I did it," the former wrestling and football coach said.

And so are Musselwhite and the Mustangs.

Listen up

Getting ready for their next game, Carmel softball players hear words of encouragement from Coach Linda Jeffrey. Corsairs are hoping for strong regular season finish before regionals begin later this month. — Photo by Alon Jeffrey.

Antioch softball team sets sights on regionals

"Wait 'till next year" is a phrase often heard when discussing Chicagoland area sports.

And at Antioch High School, that phrase might be heard in discussing the fortunes of the girls softball team. But Coach Mike Gordy is by no means writing off the final few weeks of this softball season.

"We're setting our sights on the regional," Gordy said.

The Sequoits are hoping to repeat the kind of post-season success that Grayslake's softball team had two years ago. The 1986 Rams came into the Warren regional with only seven wins. But a few bounces here and there and ended up winning the regional championship.

"We manage to play just under who we're playing against," Gordy said.

A good example of that is Antioch's two losses which dropped them to 3-9 overall and 0-5 in the North Suburban Conference. They lost 4-2 to Round Lake and 3-2 in a rain-shortened game to Warren.

The Sequoits' mentor said the seniors are doing a good job of helping the less experienced players.

Kelly Maple is the team's top hurler and the pitcher has shown good composure so far, according to Gordy.

Junior catcher Dale Rameje has had a batting average of bettter than .400 and is the team's leading hitter. Debbie Henning, shortstop Tara Farnsworth and Kristin Kirkeggard are all contributing.

Two sophomores are starting outfiedlers.

Sophomore Kelly Pramshafer has already clubbed two home runs and a triple.

Classmate Jenny Harris also starts, in left field.

Freshman Jenny Hagen anchors second base.

"We're not as bad as what we are showing. We have a desire to be a .500 club," Gordy said.

And who knows, perhaps the Sequoits will be a Cinderalla team when the regionals begin on May 25.

Divelbiss selects Augustana

Eric Divelbiss, a football player and wrestler at Warren Twp. High School, has announced he will attend Augustana College this fall.

Divelbiss, a 5-11, 215 pound offensive and defensive tackle, will be a member of the football squad.

Divelbiss was an all-North Suburban Conference performer and he was a two-year starter on both offense and defense under the direction of Coach Reggie Hughes.

Football was not the only successful sport for Divelbiss. He earned two varsity letters as a heavyweight wrestler and was picked as team MVP.

An honor roll student as a junior and senior, Divelbiss is planning on a major in accounting at Augustana.

Augustana, under the direction of ninth year head Coach Bob Reade, finished 1987 with 10-1 record and won a record seventh straight College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin Championship. Reade now has compiled a 91-9-1 record with the Vikings.

Depth paves way as JHS girls win county track

Using a balanced lineup, Johnsburg's girls track team stunned traditional powers Crystal Lake South and Woodstock to win the McHenry County meet at Cary-Grove.

The Skyhawks edged second-place McHenry 80-72 for the title and recorded several school records and personal bests en route to the title. Host Cary-Grove was third with 62 points and Woodstock was a close fourth at 61.5.

The cold weather was as much an opponent for the teams as the athletes.

"It affected everybody negatively but our girls still had some personal bests," Johnsburg Coach Bob Texidor said.

Relay events were Johnsburg's strongest suit, as has been the case in the Skyhawks' four Northwest Suburban Conference dual meet victories.

The 800 meter medlay relay team set a personal best with 2:10.0 clocking. Jenny Heumann, Andgie DeWolfe, Carrie Duda and Michelle Litt contributed to the record time.

The 1600 relay team of Litt, Jenny Behne, Lisa Neunemaker and Beth Barrett chalked up a 4:29.1, notching a second place finish.

Another strong showing was recorded in the 800 relay when Beth Struck, Huemarn, Duda and Barrett combined for a second-place finish with a time of 1:54.8.

Huemann gained a fist in the 100 meter dash with a 13.5, just shy of her personal best of 13.1.

Texidor said one of his team's strengths is in the relays. "We've had good balance and we are very competitive in the relays," he said.

Although the Skyhawks have some athletes running in more than one relay, the coach does not think of that as a problem.

"Usually it is not a problem because the relays are spread out," he said.

In individual events, Barrett, a freshman, had a new best with a 14.6 in the long jump, good enough for second place.

DeWolfe was third in the 100 meter dash with a 13.7.

Struck, meanwhile, tied for third in the 300 meter hurdles with a 52.6.

Carolyn Shine tossed the discus 99.5 for a fifth place finish.

The Skyhawks are benefitting from an experienced team, as only two seniors were lost to graduation last year.

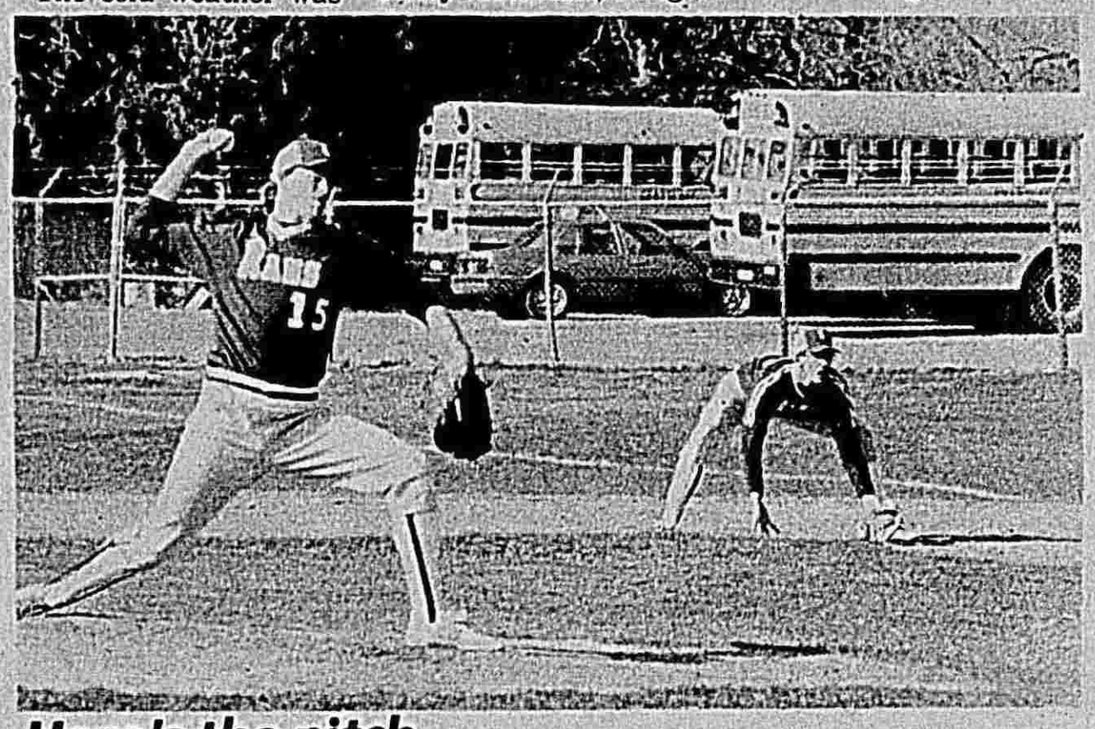

No umpires —no game

Everything was all set for the May 6 Wauconda-Marengo Northwest Suburban Conference baseball game.

The Indians were there, the Bulldogs were there, but there was one problem. No umpires.

The two teams decided to make up the game May 13 at Wauconda at 4:40 p.m.

Wauconda started the week with a 4-6 NWSC record, 6-14 overall.

Here's the pitch

Round Lake's softball team looks to finish 50-50

Every team must start over to some degree or another when the new season dawns.

But few have had to begin anew to the degree that Round Lake softball team. The Panthers lose seven starters to graduation, meaning Coach Howard Schroeder will be fielding virtually an entirely new team for 1988.

"That is a considerable number of starters to replace, but we're starting to come around," Schroeder said.

Schroeder, whose team finished 18-6 overall last year, said his pre-season philosophy does not change whether he has an experienced or inexperienced team.

"We started working on the fundamentals Day One and we will continue that until the last game of the season."

In pitching, Schroeder is hoping the threesome of junior Evelyn Van Meter and seniors Carol Arellano and Dorie Kaczmaryn will be able to shut down hitters in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

So far, the Panthers have met the coach's .500 hopes by winning seven of 12 games. But the Panthers are just 2-4 in six NWSC games.

Van Meter was the winning pitcher in a 4-2 win over Antioch last week, a win which came following a 15-2 loss to Grant.

Senior Gina Augistine, who also played volleyball at Round Lake, is the catcher. Augistine played in a handful of games last year for the Panthers.

Elsewhere in the infield, senior Carrie Janus is at third base and is the returning letterwinner from the 1987 team. Shay Sparks, a junior is playing shortstop. Second base was still up for grabs for Round Lake, as senior Jammie Matthiest and junior Becky Randall vie for position.

In the outfield, two seniors and one junior are contributing. Juniors Reggi Meeks and Peggie Amedio join senior Tina Carter.

Round Lake finished second to Lake Zurich with a 10-4 record last year in league play and a similar finish would be more than welcomed by Schroeder.

"That would be a realistic goal," Schroeder said of finishing in the upper half of the league.

As far as league favorites go, Schroeder picked the Bears and Grant. Grant won a regional title last year and is returning most of its squad.

Rafferty wins medalist honors

With a season golf total of 301, Illinois Benedictine College junior Kevin Rafferty, a Carmel High School graduate, outscored his nearest competitior by 20 strokes to take first place in the Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference.

Led by Rafferrty, the Eagles scored a team total of 337 for second place. Rockford earned first place in the meet with a team total of 331, Aurora was third with 341 and Trinity fourth with 363.

The NICC Medalist Award capped an oustanding season for Rafferty, who has been a member ow IBC Coach Tony LaScala's team for three years.

"The highlight of our year was when Kevin shot a 70 at Foss Park in North Chicago. That was the low score for the season in our conference," LaScala said.

For his efforts, Rafferty was named Most Valuable Player of the Eagles this season. He also won a letter from IBC.

Podraza helps Aurora linksmen

Brian Podraza, a 1985 graduate of Wauconda High School, is a member of the Aurora University Golf team.

Podraza, a 5-11, 165 pound junior, is one of Coach Don Holler's top five golfers

Podraza, a marketing major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herald Podraza of Wauconda.

Fall baseball lineup switches force CLC coach to change goal

Ken Molinari was in for a shock when the second semester began in January at the College of Lake County.

Molinari, a first year head mentor, had his mind pretty much made up on a starting lineup through fall practice. He was looking forward to a successful season at the helm at CLC.

But then January happened.

"It's tough because in the fall I thought we would have an unbelieveable team, Six of the nine starters who start now would not start on that team," Molinari said.

If there was one thing he larned as an assistant under Gene Hanson for five years, it was persistence. "It's been an adventure trying to figure out what to do next," Molinari said.

However, if there isthing can be said about the College of Lake County's 1988 baseball squad.

Hitting is not a concern. In fact, the Lancers at one point were second in the state with a .371 team batting average. But CLC and Coach Molinari are finding out what clubs have found out since Abner Doubleday invented the game with nine players more than a century ago: that hitting alone does not a successful team make.

"We're hitting the ball well. We are just making dumb mental mistakes," Molinari said.

Grant product Jim Taylor leads the attack for the Lancers and the freshman has had a better than .500 batting average. "He has a real nice swing and gets the line drive hits. It's the old saying- hit 'em where they ain't," Molinari said of Taylor.

Injuries to key players has forced Molinari to play musical chairs with his lineup sheet every day. Injuried or once injured this year include for position players - right and center field, catcher and first base. "We made a lot of changes over the past week. Defensively we have been struggling," the coach said.

Warren High graduate Tom Thompson is the leading pitcher for CLC, winning three games in four decisions. Doug Sparks, a Round Lake product, was 2-2 and Mike Bock, from Libertyville, was 2-1.

Following the league game against Wright, the Lancers compete in post-season sectional play.

Molinari said there is not that much difference between himself and his former boss, Hanson.

"The philosophy is almost identical. The only difference is I would like to run a litle more than Gene does," Molinari said.

Hanson will be coming back to the CLC baseball post next year, according to Molinari. Molinari has chosen to pursue a masters degree in physical education.

Recruiting is the name of the game in junior college sports, but keeping them on the team is equally important.

Molinari said the reasons the fall stars are not performing in the spring range from family problems, eligiblity problems to financial concers.

Two girls soccer coaches discuss sport's future

Girls soccer has now arrived.

The sport's growth, which was once confined to youth programs, is now making strides in high school ranks. The Illinois High School Assn. will be conducting its first state sanctioned tournament next month.

"The fact that the state recognized the sport should encourage schools to offer it," Grayslake Coach Sherri Mertz said.

The state finals will be May 27 at Niles West.

Just before the start of the season this spring, the Grayslake High Board of Education approved a freshmen-sophomore level for this year.

"We had hard time finding games for our freshmen and sophomores," Mertz said.

Mertz said most girls soccer players only have gym classes to fall back on, making the underclass level necessary. "They need the freshmen-sophomore level to teach them skills. By the time you get to the varsity level, you should be spending more time on strategy," she said.

Grayslake insitituted its girls soccer program last year. This year, the Rams were 0-5-1 in the early going, but showed promise on defense, the coach said.

Antioch is another school whose girls soccer program is on the rise.

"I think it will assist any program. People are now seeking a state championship," Antioch Coach Jim Curtis said.

Curtis said the Sequoits' future lies in a youth girls soccer league for fourth through eighth grades. "At first we had a boys-girls feeder league and now it is just for girls," Curtis said.

In the North Suburban Conference, there is a gap between established girls soccer programs and newer ones, the Antioch mentor said. Lake Forest, Stevenson, Libertyville and Niles North belong to an elite group while Mundelein, Fenton and Antioch are battling to make waves in the league race.

"Among ourselves, we are pretty competitive," Curtis said.

Antioch lost 6-1 to Stevenson last week, but Curtis saw some positive signs.

"We started doing things real well offensively," he stated.

Antioch is led in scoring by junior Kim Barbour and freshman Lisa Filip. The Sequoits will have most of their team returning next year.

"Persistence," Curtis said when asked his team's strength. "We don't give up".

Blue Devils gain needed wins, coach looks to improve

Warren baseball Coach Ron Shelton knew what his team had to accomplish in two games against North Chicago.

Win the two North Suburban Conference games, or be looking at a 1-3 or 0-4 league start. And the Blue Devils followed the game plan to perfection, winning in a laugher 21-1 followed by a finger-nail bitter 5-4.

"We needed to win both of those and we knew the second game would be closer than the first game," Shelton said.

The wins improved Warren to 6-4 overall and evened the Blue Devils record at 2-2 in league action. Moreover, the wins give Warren a chance to gain momentum in a league race Shelton sees as tight.

"Anyone can beat anyone else," Shelton said.

In the first game against the Warhawks, the Blue Devils erupted for nine runs in the first inning and seven in the second.

Winning pitcher Alan Crouch, a junior, allowed just one hit and struck out six and walked one. That hit came in the first inning, when the hosts scored their only run.

"He pitched a nice game," Shelton said of Crouch.

Some 48 hours later, there was a world of difference in the game at Gurnee American Legion field.

North Chicago led 3-0 after one-half inning before Warren scored a run in its half. Warren led 3-1 before the Warhawks erupted for three more in the sixth. Jim DeVries started for Warren but Todd Blockinger was the winning pitcher in relief, pitching the sixth inning.

Derek Shelton and Mark Graham had a pair of Runs Batted In each for the Blue Devils. Graham's squeeze bunt scored DeVries for the winning run.

Shelton knows the key for the upcoming month.

"We've got to play better defense. Our starting pitching has been adequate and our hitting has done pretty well but our infield defense is terrible," Shelton said.

Elsewhere in the NSC, Stevenson improved to 4-2 in league play and 13-4 overall with a split against Lake Forest. The Scouts won the first game 4-0 but the Patriots took the nightcap 12-0.

North Chicago, winless in six NSC games, reverted back to its early-week form with a pair of losses - 13-2 and 13-1 at Libertyville.

Softball weather?
Mother Nature provided quite a challenge for Grant's softball players in Northwest Suburban Conference game against Johnsburg. Players were allowed to wear sweatshirts over their uniforms as temperatures were only in upper 30's. For players on the bench, that meant getting out the winter blankets usually reserved for football games. But Bulldogs' 10-0, six-inning win helped. — Photo by Steve Peterson.

Heading to the wire
Antioch and Libertyville runners go at it stride-for-stride coming into the finish line of a distance run. North Suburban Conference girls track teams are preparing for sectional meet and possible state finals opportunities.

Potts, Langer contribute to success of Aurora baseball

Two area graduates are contributing to the Aurora University baseball team's success this spring.

First baseman Jeff Potts, a 6-0, 180-pound junior transfer from College of Lake County, led Aurora University's offensive punch against Carthage College with a double, home run and four runs-batted-in in a 10-4 season-opening win. Potts is a graduate of Wauconda High School.

Potts, a 1984 graduate of Wauconda, is a 6-0, 180 pound junior is a designated hitter-first baseman for the Spartans. A starter in the DH position, Potts has had a .392 batting average and 22 hits and a team leading 25 Runs Batted In. He has also hit two home runs and five doubles.

The Spartans were 15-4 overall and 8-0 in the rugged Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference.

Potts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Potts of McHenry.

Mike Langer, a 1987 graduate of Grayslake Community High School, is a 6-1, 190 pound freshman and plays outfield for Coach Jim Schmid's team.

Langer, a business administration major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerd Langer of Round Lake.

The Spartans last year ranked ninth in the nation among NCAA Division III teams; are ranked 14th this spring. In the first game, a six run sixth inning led the way.

Also at AU, the women's softball team was 2-4 during its southern swing through Indiana. The wins were an 11-0 and 3-1 wins in a doubleheader against St. Joseph's College in Rensselear, ID.

Farina vaults into national gymnastics picture as freshman

by TIM McCANN

Mundelein resident Mike Farina vaulted on to the Big Ten collegiate gymnastics scene in just his freshman year on the University of Minnesota Gymnastics team.

Farina, a 1987 graduate of Mundelein High School, led the Golden Gophers to a fourth place finish in the Big Ten and a seventh place finish at the NCAA Championships in his first year of collegiate competition. "He did exteremely well this year, especially considering the fact that he is only a freshman," said Gopher Gymnastics Coach Fred Roethlisberger, who recruited Farina.

Farina played a big role in the Gophers success this season. His all-around average of 56.15 was among the highest on the Gopher squad. He also possessed the team's highest average on the parallel bars and the high bar, setting team marks for best performances in those events. "He's been a solid performer for us all year. He is very dependable and never misses a routine," Rothlisberger said. "His pummel horse and high bar routines are as difficult as the seniors' on the team."

Farina is currently nursing a sore shoulder, caused by "a little tendinitis in the rotator cuff," Farina explained. "I'm just taking it easy right now and letting it heal. I should be ready to compete in July," he said referring to the United States Gymnastics Association National Championships to be held July 7 and 8. Farina is a member of the Junior Elite Team which will compete at those championships.

Being a freshman, Farina has a long road of goals which he would like to reach for. "He hopes to come on the scene as one of the top gymanasts in the country in 1989," Roethlisberger said. "And I don't forsee him failing to do just that. We certainly expect that he will be one of the top gymnasts on the international scene someday and a factor at the 1992 Olympics."

Farina came to the University of Minnesota via the American Academy of Gymnastics in Wheeling. Farina competed for the Academy during his junior and senior years at Mundelein High School. After competing at the high school level during his freshman and sophomore years, his coach at Mundelein, Lee Battaglia, went on to coach at the American Academy. Farina followed. "I just felt that staying with Coach Battaglia was the best thing to do at the time," Farina said.

What are Farina's thoughts with regard to his ultimate goal? "In this sport the Olympics is the ultimate goal. I would imagine everyone's shooting for that," Farina said. "It probably is my ultimate goal too."

Grayslake netters hoping NWSC meet brings success

Grayslake's tennis team is hoping the Northwest Suburban Conference tennis meet will bring more success than the dual meets have.

The Rams will be hosting the NWSC meet, but a depleated team has Coach Paul Keller having realistic goals. Keller said the Rams should finish near sixth place as Lake Zurich, Johnsburg and Round Lake do battle for the top spots.

Action gets underway May 13 at Grayslake High. Other sites that will be used during the two-day meet will be Avon Twp. Center courts on Washington St. and Jaycee Park courts in Grayslake.

The Rams notched their fourth dual meet win of the year with a 3-2 non-conference victory over Warren. Grayslake won first and second singles but Warren won the first two doubles slots.

In singles, Kevin Reidel beat Rich Sitz 6-4, 6-1. At second singles, Peter Cavanaugh faced Mark Arcille in a three-set battle. Cavanaugh battled back from a 4-2 deficit to win the first set 7-6 on an 8-6 tiebreaker, lost the second 6-3 but won a tiebreaker 7-4 to win the third set 7-6.

In doubles, Grayslake's Mike Ryan and Jon Floyd won at first doubles in a three-set match 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Warren's Brett Schmidt and Don Parsons won at second doubles 6-2, 6-1.

Bill Moss and Andy Robb beat Bob Hook and Keith Van Ess at third doubles 6-0, 6-2 for Warren.

The win improved Grayslake's dual meet mark to 4-12 overall.

In conference, the Rams have had their troubles, winning just one of six matches. They defeated Wauconda 5-0 for their only win.

Johnsburg comes into the tournament as the favorite as the Skyhawks have gotten off to a good start in the league.

Round Lake has won the Warren Invitational tournament to its credit.

Lakeland Newspaper's SPRING SPORTS EXTRA

After 18 seasons, Richardson enjoys contributing at Grant

Grant softball Coach Sue Richardson remembers her first years at the Fox Lake school well.

Those were the days of the early 1970s, back when girls sports were in their infancy and days of Girls Afterschool Activities still fresh in the memory.

Now, 18 years later, Richardson, like most Grant High coaches, is still on the sidelines for basketball, volleyball and now softball.

"It's changed a lot. There was a time when you told athletes to be there at 3:15 p.m. and they were there at 3:10 p.m.," Richardson said.

But heading into the third decade since Title IX changed the high school sporting scene for good, athletes are changing.

Richardson said that today's athlete faces many a distraction.

Respect then, is something paramount to Grant teams.

"Without respect, you might as well pack it in," she said.

Richardson is one of the few coaches left who still is behind the bench for three sports. Most head coaches have decided to concentrate on one sport or be an assistant in another, but few do three. She is also the lone woman head coach in girls basketball in Lake County.

"It's a strain. In basketball, you play three games a week and after leaving at 5 p.m. and play in Marengo, you get home at 10:30 - 10:45 p.m.," Richardson said.

But there are plenty of rewards and success stories to offset the long hours a dedicated coach puts in.

In 1977, the softball team came within one game of making it to the state finals before losing to Deerfield. Last year the Bulldogs won the Antioch regional before falling to Mundelein at Hersey Sectional.

This year the squad appears primed for another run at post-season success. The Bulldogs, led by ace pitcher Becky Brace and Tammy Loring, are in contention for the Northwest Suburban Conference title.

"The key to softball is good pitching," Richardson said.

She should know, as Richardson played catcher at Illinois State in her college days.

The mentor said she emphasizes the windmill style of delivery with her hurlers. "It's harder to teach until they get the motion they want and momentum," she said.

Just when one season appears to be ending, it is time for another one to start.

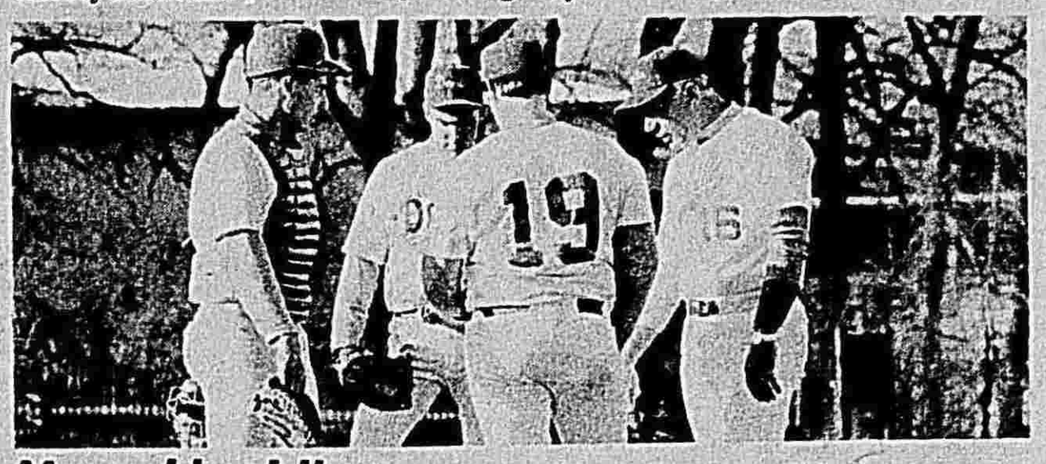

Richardson received information about the volleyball rules committee meeting on Aug. 18 earlier this month.

Carmel track star Bruns selects Miami of Ohio

Michelle Bruns, track and field standout from Carmel High School for Girls, has decided to accept a four-year track and field scholarship from Miami University of Ohio. The senior also received offers from Loyola University, University of Michigan, West Point, Naval Academy, Brown and Stanford but decided upon Miami because of its excellent programs and "homey atmosphere".

Although she was named all-conference and all-area player in both volleyball and basketball, the state-ranked track star decided to concentrate only on track and field competition in college. Bruns indicated her relectucance to give up volleyball and basketball, but said: "I wanted to be able to specialize in one sport in order to allow enough time for studying and earning good grades." She plans to major in sports medicine as a undergraduate and then to pursue graduate school.

Miami of Ohio is located in Oxford, Ohio and is a member of the Mid-American Conference.

Mound huddle

Warren catcher Derek Shelton and father-coach Ron Shelton talk thins over with pitcher Aaron White during North Suburban Conference game. Warren faces NSC powerhouse Libertyville in away doubleheader May 14.

Warren's Wagner to play for Augustana football team

Mike Wagner, an outstanding athlete at Warren Twp. High School, has announced he will attend Augustana College this fall.

Wagner, a 6-0, 200 pound linebacker-fullback, will be a member of Augustana's football team this fall.

Wagner earned three letters playing for head Coach Reggie Hughes. He was all-North Suburban Conference performer as a junior and was a team captain as a senior. Wagner, a three-year varsity starter for the Blue Devils, is also a shot and discus thrower on Warren's track and field team.

He is president of the National Honor Society and has been on the high honor roll. He is planning to major in pre-medicine at Augustana.

Augustana, under the direction of ninth year head Coach Bob Readem finished last year with a 10-1 record and won a record seventh straight College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin championship.

Teams busy

Area high school track and field fans will have a difficult choice to where they wish to watch their favorites battle for state berths on May 13.

North Chicago, which won the North Suburban Conference girls meet which finished third, will lead a contigent of teams to Glenbrook South.

Johnsburg, which won Conference meet, will be at Crystal Lake Central.

Pine Meadow improves facilities for new season

Who's the NWSC leader? almost all still in running

Who will win the Northwest Suburban Conference baseball race?

As the teams head into the final two weeks, there are no "magic" numbers and no clear-cut favorites. Marengo had the edge early but lost to Grayslake. Grayslake then had the lead for a while but a 6-2 loss to Marian Central slowed their progress; Lake Zurich, Grant and Round Lake can't be counted out, either. Johnsburg, winless going into this week's games, is the only team which can be automatically counted out of the running.

"Physically we're as good as anybody in the league," Grayslake Coach Jim Haas said.

But the Rams, who slipped to 5-3 in the league with the loss to the Hurricanes, have a question mark in the mental aspect of the game.

Against Marian, the Rams fell behind 6-0 before scoring two runs in the fifth. The Hurricanes broke open a scoreless game with four runs in the third and two in the fourth.

Tim Hough singled, Charlie Miller walked and Jim Neuman singled for one run. The second Grayslake run scored on a single by starting pitcher Cory Clowers.

The Rams had a good chance earlier in the fourth when Pete LuPori tripled, but the Rams could not get him home.

On Monday, the Rams clubbed Johnsburg 12-3. Winning pitcher Timm West was in strong form, striking out 10 Skyhawk batters and allowing just five hits.

Shawn Mauritz was the leading hitter for Grayslake, going two-for-three with five Runs Batted In. Mauritz is Grayslake's leading hitter with a .500 average.

"We're just inconsistent," Haas said.

Grant fell to 3-4 in the NWSC with a 12-8 loss to Marengo but bounced back Wednesday with a 3-0 win over Wauconda.

Offense has not been the problem for Grant, as the Bulldogs are averaging about eight runs a game.

"Our pitching will have to get a lot tougher," Coach Fritz Kazlausky said after the loss to Marengo.

Against the Indians, the Bulldogs pounded out 14 hits, enough to win most games, but had six errors to Marengo's four.

Ken Rasbid was two-for-three, Mark Mischik had three hits and an RBI, Jeff Pett two hits and Steve Maiworm also had two hits.

After the two teams were tied 2-2, Grant took a shortlived 4-2 lead in the second. Marengo countered, though, with 10 runs over the next two innings.

Earlier, the Bulldogs notched an 8-5 non-conference win over Mundelein. Clint Moreley led the way with a two-for-three day with a single and double.

Grant, which had a nine hit attack, jumped off to a 4-2 lead in the first and added two in the second and sixth innings.

Kenosha Twins-minor league baseball, big league fun

by TIM McCANN

Baseball season is upon us and many of us have already attended games, having gotten caught up in early season baseball fever. Problem is, that fever pitch often has a way of going down once the team you call yours starts its skid down memory lane, en-route to last place.

If you are a Cubs or Sox fan this is an all too familiar trip. But if you are a Kenosha Twins fan you're still basking in the glory of last year's Midwest League championship and are anticipating another stellar season.

The Kenosha Twins are looking forward to a big season, too. They feel that with many players returning from last years championship team, they can look forward to an exciting summer. "We have eight players here who were here last year and who know how to win," said Twins Asst. General Manager Dave Austin.

"The popularity of minor league baseball is at an all time high," Austin explained. "Fans are realizing that they can see high quality professional baseball in the minor leagues at a fraction of the cost of seeing a major league game."

The Twins got off to a slow start in defense of their league title but anticipate better results and better weather to play in soon. "April was a little cold for both the players and the fans alike," Austin said. "Now that its getting warmer I think we'll see the turnouts we did last year, when we drew over 60,000 fans," he added.

Of course there's the added excitement of seeing future big leaguers play ball at the minor league level. "They enjoy watching tomorrow's stars today," Austin said. There were 258 players on major league rosters last year who played Midwest League baseball.

1988 marks the fifth year of minor league baseball in Kenosha. In those first four years the Twins have won the league championship twice, once in 1985 and again last year. "Being defending champions and affiliated with the World Champion Minnesota Twins, we are looking forward to our best season ever," Austin explained.

The Kenosha Twins play their games at Simmons Field, located on Sheridan Rd. (Hwy. 32), three blocks south of 75th St. (Hwy 50) in Kenosha, Wis. "Once the season gets going a little more we have a nimber of promotions coming up and its always a good time," Austin said. "We'll be giving away corduroy Twins hats at a 'Say No to Drugs Night', coffee mugs and we're even expecting a visit from the famous Chicken!"

Patriots take command

A week featuring four straight wins and some help from Lake Forest has made Stevenson the team to beat in the North Suburban Conference race.

The Patriots ran their overall record to 20-4 in that spree. Barring an upset loss at the hands of North Chicago May 14, the Pats should go into next week's home-and-away series against Libertyville with the upper hand.

The doubleheader sweep over Antioch was a wild affair. In game one, the contest was just a 2-1 Stevenson lead. That was until the fourth inning when the Patriots offense exploded for 14 runs.

"It was one of those inings," Stevenson Coach Bob Mackey said.

Steve Lemke was the winning pitcher in that contest, striking out four and walking two.

Stevenson outhit Antioch 17-11.

The second win was somewhat more conventional. Stevenson trailed 3-2 in the second inning before scoring three runs in the third and three more in the sixth for a 10-4 verdict.

Gary Sachs, who had picked up a win in relief against Warren two days earlier, was the winning pitcher, striking out seven and walking one.

Stevenson outhit the Sequoits 14-8.

It was the night-after-prom for Antioch, but also two days earlier, the Sequoits had edged Zion-Benton 5-4.

The Scouts also helped the Pats cause. A 4-3 win over Libertyville in game one of a doubleheader gave Stevenson a chance to break the first-place tie. The Wildcats bounced back to win the second game 13-5, scoring all their runs in the second and third innings.

Elsewhere in the NSC race, Mundelein bounced back from two early week losses to Niles North to defeat North Chicago twice, 15-5 and 10-0. Both games went six innings. Dave Smith was the winner in game one and Graham Haas threw a two-hitter in game two.

Netmen place seventh

One week can make a world of difference.

Just ask College of Lake County tennis Coach Lance Laverty.

"I was much happier with the performance of our team in the Region IV meet than in the Skyway Conference meet," Laverty said.

The Lancers picked up six points to finish in seventh place in the regional meet in Rockford.

"It was about what I expected," Laverty said.

At first singles, CLC's Steve Quigley beat Dan Hanrin of Thornton 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 in the quarterfinal round. DuPage's Darin Otton then ousted Quigley 6-2, 6-0.

Jim Carson of CLC won his first match at number two singles over Chris Makin of Oakton 7-5, 6-4.

Abbott Labs donates to Adler

The David Adler Cultural Center announces the receipt of a $5,000 donation from Abbott Laboratories, to support its 1988 cultural programs. A six-year contributor to cultural center activities, Abbott doubled its gift from 1987 with the contribution.

Located five miles down the road from Abbott's corporate headquarters in North Chicago, the David Adler Cultural Center counts many Abbott employees and their families among its 650 members and 1,150 students enrolled in art and music classes.

Abbott's gift will be directed toward the renovation of architect David Adler's house in Libertyville, the home base for the cultural center.

Capital improvements scheduled for this summer will restore David Adler's ballroom and dining room to their original elegance and make them more suitable for ongoing exhibition displays.

College display

McHenry County College's recently dedicated art gallery houses new works for the month of May.

Two artists were awarded honorable mentions. They are Sherry Lee Sadilek (Patterson) of McHenry for her oil painting titled "Arizona Red Mountains" and Carolyn Murphy of Hampshire.

Lindenhurst builder dies

Lindenhurst has lost one of its founding fathers. Victor "Vic" Schaeffer, 65, of Lake Villa died May 7 in Condell Memorial Hospital.

A half brother of Lindenhurst developer Mort Engle, the two of them combined talents in Woodland Construction Co. to build homes that turned into subdivisions starting in the early 1950s.

Among their early ventures in Lake Villa Twp. was in Venetian Village. They then moved north to develop the Seven Hills area of Lindenhurst. The rest is now history. Prior to this, Schaeffer was general manager of the company.

Schaeffer owned Woodland Construction Co. in Lindenhurst, was the founder of ERA Woodland Reality in Lindenhurst and was the founder of Wick Homes by Chris Jackson in Lindenhurst.

He was a member of the Lake County Board of Realtors, former director of the Lake County Contractor's Assn., past co-tresurer of the Lake Villa Rescue Squad in which he took personal pride, past president of the Lake Villa Lions Club and a former member of the Antioch High School Board of Education.

"This man was dedicated to the village and township," Mayor Robert Ratch of Lindenhurst said in recalling Schaeffer. He also noted that Schaeffer put in a great many hours raising funds for the Lake Villa Rescue Squad.

Another sidelight Ratch recalled is how Schaeffer extended a helping hand to so many people. Many first-time home buyers found his creative ways of doing some work themselves such as painting or buying carpeting going toward a down payment they might not have had. Those who purchased a Woodland home at one time or another dealt with him at some point, whether it was to close the transaction or to select the decor.

He is survived by his wife, Alice; two daughters, Chris Jackson and Nancy Jones, both of Lindenhurst; and two grandaughters. Funeral services and interment were private.

Youth group full of fire

Youth group is full of fire

FIREPOWER is the name of an active teen group that meets weekly at the Calvary Temple Christian Center, 134 E. Monaville Rd., Lake Villa. The weekly meetings include sports activities, singing, religious teachings and group worship, all designed to foster friendships among those attending. Participants come from all communities in the surrounding area.

FIREPOWER is led by the Rev. Karl Fleig and his wife, Cindy, both graduates of Bible colleges. She also teaches upper-grade science at the church school.

"Through this group I want to share what I have experienced in my own life," Pastor Fleig said. He said all activities of the group are uplifting and enjoyable without the harmful effects of drugs, alcohol or immoraility.

Assisting with activities are Diane Pearson, Sandy Robinson, Wally and Joyce Schultz, Dave Andrews, Jean Enstrom, Ron Oliver, Sheri Gravette and Chris Marshall.

Activities include monthly trips this spring to roller skate at Main Street USA in Streamwood, programs hosted by guest disc jockeys from radio station WCRM, a week of camping for juniors and seniors in Carlinville, a bike-a-thon and campout at Wisconsin Dells and an alternative to prom. The prom event called Prime Above the Prom will be held in Chicago on Friday, May 27, and will include a full evening with meal and entertainment at the Pick-Congress Hotel followed by a late-night cruise on Lake Michigan.

A youth rally from Tuesday, May 17, through Thursday, May 19, will give new and current members a chance to meet. A 5:30 p.m. meal will be followed by volleyball and softball games, relays, a greased pig contest and guest speaker, all ending by 9 p.m.

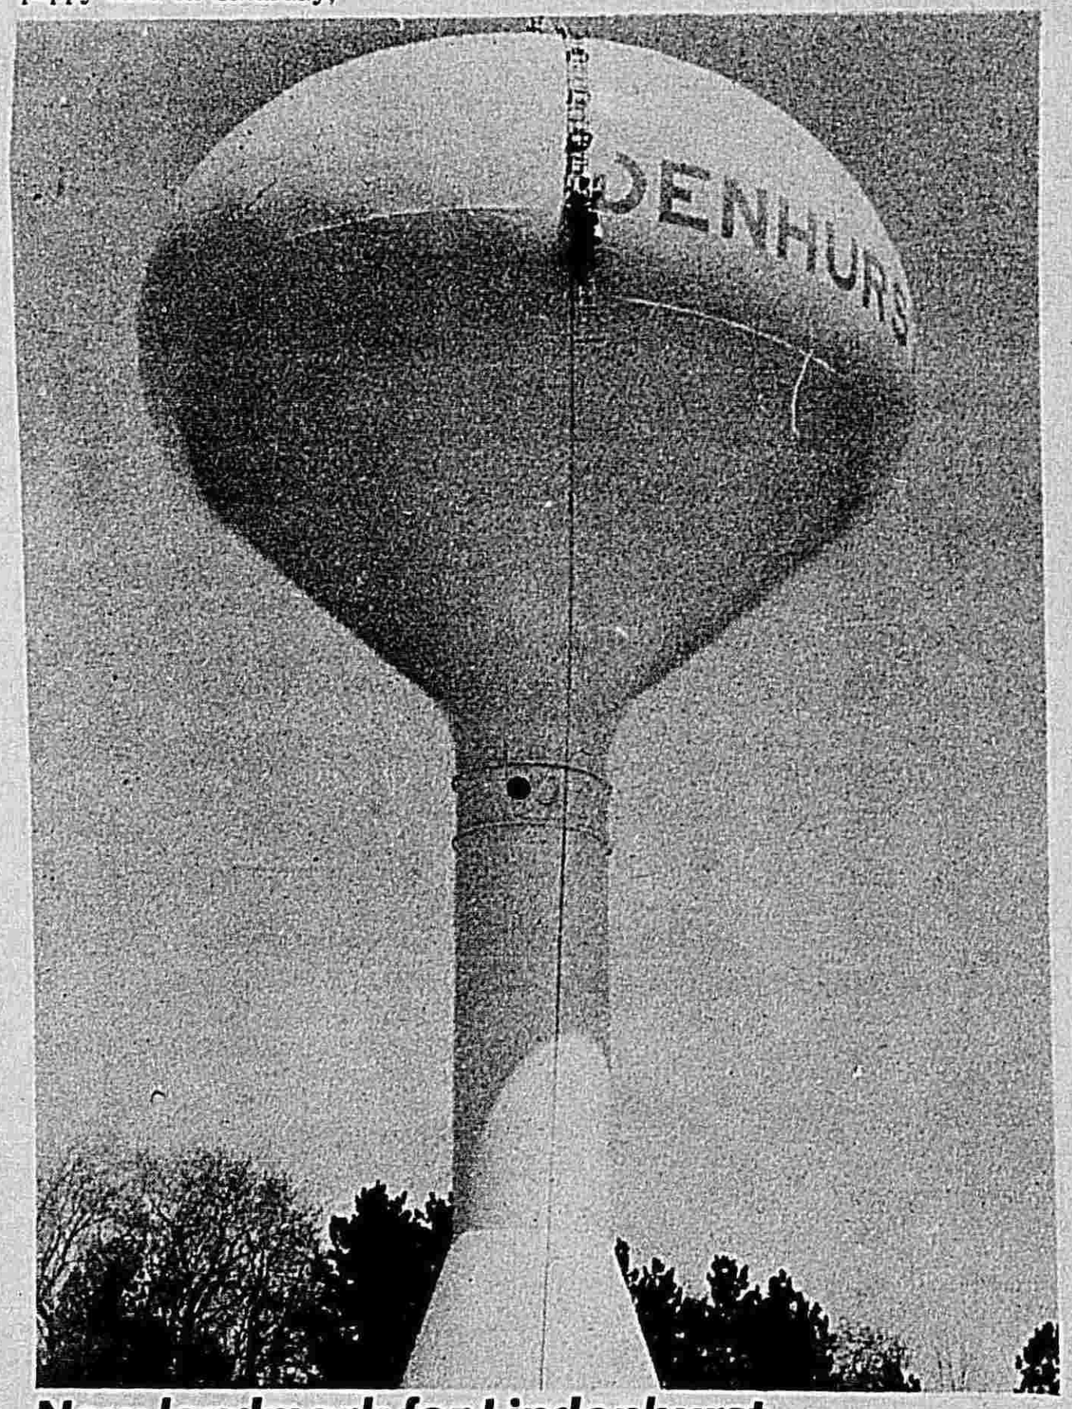

Jaycees

The Lake Villa-Lindenhurst Jaycees are planning a blood drive to be held on Saturday, May 21, from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Prince of Peace parish hall. This blood drive covers the Lake Villa Twp. Blood Center, which has merged with the American Red Cross.

Jump rope for heart

Students at B.J. Hooper School in Lindenhurst literally worked their heart out to raise money for the Heart Fund.

During a jump rope fund-raising event this spring they raised $7,206.

New landmark for Lindenhurst

Lindenhurst's new water tower on Munn Rd. is getting the final touch with the name of the community being painted in dark blue on two sides. This contrasts with the light-blue color of the tower. The name will be visible to motorists on both Grand Ave. and Grass Lake Rd. By the time Neumann Inc. of Broadview has completed its work in a week or so a second coat of paint will be added to the tower.

Lindenhurst chamber elects new officers

Hats have been switched by the two top office holders in the Lindenhurst Chamber of Commerce.

Corkey Gross has been elected president to succeed Dr. Dan Fasnacht, who held the job for two years and has taken the title of vice president.

John Miller has been elected treasurer and Dr. A.T. Sampolinski is secretary. Serving on the board of directors are Carl Norlin, Tom Keefe and Lori Gertz for three-year terms; Dr. Ted Restarski, Dr. A.T. Renew ACHS accreditation

Arthur Blecke, principal of Antioch High School, has announced that the school's North Central Assn. accreditation has been extended through the 1987-88 school year following the review and approval of its annual report at the association's annual meeting. Accreditation is for one year at a time and must be renewed annually.

The North Central Assn., which was founded in 1895, is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies.

Accreditation by the North Central Assn. ensures that the school is meeting the minimal conditions for effectiveness. By setting standards for basic operations of the school and by requiring a comprehensive evaluation once every seven years, the NCA stimulates the school towards continuous improvement.

Victory Lakes essay contest

Deadline for entries by school children in the Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center essay contest is Friday, May 13.

Theme of the contest is "My best older friend." Prizes will be awarded in three categories; first and second grade, third through fifth grade and sixth through eighth grade.

Winning entries will be published.

The contest is sponsored by the new Victory Lakes Care Center 1055 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: A change of attitude would be wise.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr 19) An enormous amount of affection is being expected of you from loved ones. Only you can decide if a complete change of direction is necessary.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Some spectacular aspects through the remainder of the month bring opportunities. Capitalize on your creative abilities, but also form new alliances.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Your ideas are considered impractical by those who follow old guidelines; modernize your environment to get your point across. Go for the gold now!

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) If you are forced to discuss business matters, then ensure you do not allow for emotions. A new formula is necessary on the homefront, so get to work on it.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) If you feel others are being inconsiderate or irresponsible, don't labor the point. Money matters will be trying now, so seek the advice of an adviser.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are honest and brave enough to acknowledge certain faults, this can be a prosperous time for you. Personal interests figure heavily.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct 22) New facts and information are pouring your way; grab them and use them for advancement. If a loved one has deceived you somehow, try to forgive.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) The special relationship between you and your mate is blossoming with the weather now. Face any awkward or emotional situation with dignity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) The Stars point toward a loss of confidence in both your personal and professional life. Rise above changes. Armed with knowledge, it's up to you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Some spectacular planetary activity should leave you little time for self-doubt or pity. Associates are now likely to be staggered by your ability.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A gentle and forgiving soul can help get that sour taste out of your mouth. You're feeling insightful, so use this time to reflect on some goals.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Decisions have been waiting too long. Now is the time to get things done and off your desk. That recent loner streak in you will come to an end shortly.

If you were born this week, much is to be expected from you throughout your lifetime, for you are an individual who is able to produce! produce! produce! With a natural flair for authority, you handle many situations at once with ease. Remember, however, not to take on so much at once as not to have time for life's smaller, unexpected pleasures.
